200 Hear Speech At Lions Session

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman Staff Writer

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller ruled out the repeal of either the state sales tax, income tax or corporate franchise tax Tuesday at Kingston Lions Club luncheon in the Gov. Clinton Hotel attended by over 200 persons.

The Republican nominee for reelection said, "All the money collected from the state sales tax, personal income tax and corporate franchise tax goes directly back to the people. New York has an average of 61 percent tax return directly to the taxpayers. In this respect we rank third in the nation. On the other hand, we are 34th in state services."

Introducing Gov. Rockefeller was Kingston Chamber of Commerce President George Svirsky.

Ignored Demos
There was little mention of his opposition as the Governor concentrated on his administration's program of increased aid to local communities and the rapid growth of the state university in the past eight years.

Svirsky had both the overflow crowd of about 200 persons, which included not only Lions Club members but members of the Kiwanis Club and Rotary Club as well, chuckling with his witty introduction of the State's Chief Executive.

Noting that Happy Margaretta (the Governor's 40-year-old wife) was "happily expecting again," Svirsky said, "With Rocky's income and two more children, he'll be eligible for Medicaid."

The Governor, who was apparently enjoying Svirsky's introduction as much as the audience, was then told that he owed his opportunity to speak to Harry Thayer, WGHQ president. Speaking from the podium, Svirsky told the governor, "Our scheduled speaker for today was Harry Thayer but he relinquished his time so that you could address it. If it weren't for Harry's generosity, he'd be up here and you'd be down there."

Stresses School Aid
One of the points that Gov. Rockefeller emphasized in his hour's address was that his administration has strengthened local government by increased state funds in both aid to schools and aid to local government.

"Without this state aid," Rockefeller said, a person now paying $200 in school taxes in Kingston would pay $432. In Saugerties the same $200 would jump to $562. And how would (Continued on Page 35, Col. 5)

GOVERNOR ADDRESSES LIONS—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller addressed the Kingston Lions Club Tuesday at a luncheon at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Over 200 persons, among them members also of the Kingston Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, heard the Governor tell of his administration's accomplishments in Ulster County over the past eight years. List Group For Street Light Check

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today named a committee of former mayors and aldermen to study replacement of local street lights, most of which are some 30 years old.

Former mayors named are Eugene B. Carey, Oscar V. Newkirk, Edwin F. Radel and John J. Schwenk. The former aldermen are Donald E. Quick who had served in the 10th Ward, and Edward J. Schrowang, First Ward.

Urgently Needed
Mayor Garraghan said new lights are "urgently needed," and added that after study of the problem is completed, he plans to ask the committee to assist in studying other problems so that "the citizens will have the opinion of our former executives and legislators who have devoted many years of service to the city."

Lights of the type which now line Broadway and several other streets were installed in the 1930's during the administration of former Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman.

Smaller installations were made in various sections of the city during the administration of William F. Edelmuth, Frederick H. Stang, Edwin F. Radel, and most recently in the former Washington Avenue viaduct area during the administration of John J. Schwenk.

Lights had also been installed on North Front Street when it was widened and rebuilt in the 1940's, but most of the city's lights are now considered obsolete, and it was learned today that parts for them are not available on today's market, but must be made to order.

Note Smaller Lights
In residential areas smaller lights are installed from time to time upon request of residents of the various wards and their aldermen.

Within the past 15 years studies have been made of street lighting with a view toward (Continued on Page 12, Col. 5)

Reds Capture Yank In Daring Strike

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In a daring pre-dawn raid, a Viet Cong demolition squad stormed into a military motor pool near Saigon today, captured an American soldier, killed four Vietnamese militiamen and blew up 52 trucks.

U.S. officials estimated damage at $1 million. They said the Communist guerrillas escaped without losing a man.

Biggest Coater Assault
In the air, U.S. bombers struck at a North Vietnamese missile complex for the seventh day in a row Tuesday. On the ground, allied forces launched their biggest helicopter assault of the war in a new offensive in the coastal valleys of central Viet Nam.

One of their first catches was a 13-member Communist entertainment troupe from Hanoi. They also captured three nurses at a Viet Cong hospital.

In another early action, the cavalrymen killed 15 enemy and captured 16 more while sustaining light casualties.

U.S. Army officers said the Viet Cong blasted a huge hole in the barbed-wire fence surrounding the motor pool on the outskirts of Saigon and charged through with guns blazing. A platoon of Vietnamese militiamen on guard pulled out during the initial onslaught. Several militiamen were wounded.

The captured U.S. serviceman was not identified. Officers said the installation's administrative building was destroyed.

Hit Seventh Time
The U.S. command also reported that American bombers destroyed one missile when they hit a North Vietnamese missile complex 30 miles northeast of Donk Hoi for the seventh time.

That brought to five the number of Soviet-made missiles blown up since Saturday. The site had been a threat to American bombing missions over North Viet Nam.

American planes flew 150 missions over the North Tuesday. Two American planes went down, raising the number of planes lost over the north to 368.

One plane, an F105 Thunderchief, was downed south of Vinh and the pilot was rescued. The other downed craft was a Navy Skyhawk and its pilot is listed as missing.

One hundred twenty transport helicopters were used to airlift U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division troops into the coastal (Continued on Page 35, Col. 3)

Dirksen Not Convinced on CR Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson failed to convince Sen. Everett M. Dirksen at a White House conference Tuesday night that he should support the administration's civil rights bill, Dirksen said today.

Loud, Resonant 'No'
The Senate Republican leader, who holds the key to efforts to cut off a Southern filibuster, told an informal news conference that in response to a presidential plea to drop his opposition, "I told the President the answer is a loud, resonant, stentorian, emphatic 'no.'"

Dirksen added, in response to questions, that he didn't think Johnson "tried very hard" to change the senator's mind.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who attended the conference along with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, confirmed Dirksen's report that the presidential effort had failed.

To Decide Later
Mansfield said he will decide after the Senate votes on cloture late today whether to make more attempt to get the two-thirds majority needed to limit debate.

The Democratic leader had no expectation that the first move would succeed.

Dirksen said he plans to give the chief address against the measure in advance of the late afternoon vote.

On the speech, Dirksen said, "My attacks are polite. They are devastating but polite. I kill you but you don't feel it."

Today's vote is on a cloture petition filed by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield to end a shadow filibuster which began when sponsors presented a motion to take up the bill a week ago.

Not Fully Developed
The filibuster never developed fully because absenteeism forced the Senate to adjourn several times when leaders could not muster a quorum.

Most controversial portion of the House-passed bill would for racial discrimination in the sale or rental of about 40 per cent of the nation's housing. Single-family dwellings would not be included.

Denounces Bill On River Valley Compact Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., denounced as "meaningless" a bill now before President Johnson to establish machinery for preservation and development of the Hudson River Valley.

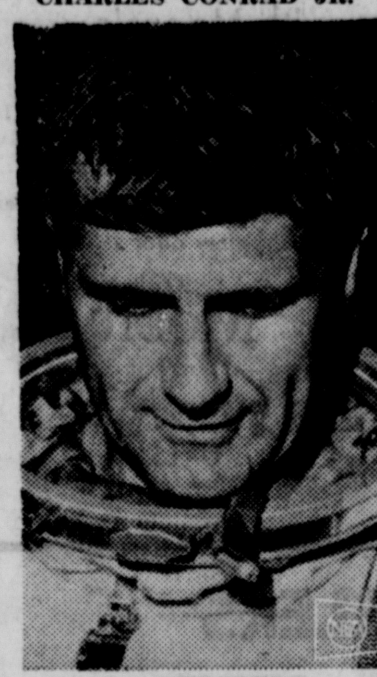

Javits charged Tuesday that the bill was politically inspired and was designed to help its sponsor, Rep. Richard Ottinger, a Pleasantville Democrat, win re-election.

No Move to Block
New York's senior senator did not, however, move to block Senate approval of the measure.

The bill was amended drastically as it moved through the House previously. Changes included the removal of a provision (Continued on Page 12, Col. 1)

CHARLES CONRAD JR.

RICHARD GORDON JR.

Still Study Inabilities In Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Baffled by astronaut Richard F. Gordon's Jr.'s tiring space-walk experience, project officials today continued to search for ways to overcome man's seeming inability to work in the weightless ocean of space for long periods.

If they cannot, it might reduce the number of tasks astronauts can perform while on the moon. Astronauts also would need to work outside their spaceship to perform a space rescue, erect space stations or repair a broken satellite.

Need Experience
"We've got to have some more experience," said Dr. Charles Berry, chief astronaut physician, "and really get the details of each of these experiences and try and put them all together in some coherent story."

"I can say very honestly that there are some things here that we continue to not understand." The basic problem appears to be that it is very, very hard work," agreed mission director William C. Schneider. "And, regardless of the suit, it is going to remain hard work."

Man has no basic stability in space, if he doesn't have something to latch on to. It's like lifting weights while treading water.

Using tethers to tie a working astronaut down "is absolutely (Continued on Page 35, Col. 8)

Up 850 Miles; CatNap During 'Stand' Stint

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Shouting "We're on top of the world!" the Gemini 11 astronauts today soared higher and faster than man has ever flown, and then, amazingly, both catnapped as Richard F. Gordon Jr. hung halfway out of the space ship on a star photograph assignment.

Another 'First'
Gordon was standing in his seat, his head poked through an open hatch waiting for a nighttime pass so he could see the stars, when command pilot Charles Conrad Jr. reported: "We both took a cat nap — dozed off for a few minutes."

Mission control center in Houston, Tex., commented: "That's a space first — sleeping in a vacuum."

The astronauts had started the day by using the power of an Agena rocket to rise to a record altitude of 850 miles.

Agrees With Columbus
"I tell you, you can't believe it!" Conrad exclaimed as they first reached the high outpost above eastern Australia. "Utterly fantastic. The world is round."

After zipping twice to the high point, the pilots again fired the Agena, to which Gemini 11 is attached, to return to their original path, ranging from 180 to 190 miles high.

At 8:49 a.m., EDT, as Gemini 11 was over the Indian Ocean, Gordon opened his hatch and mounted two cameras for the star photograph experiment.

As he whirled around the world for more than two hours, daylight passed, he was relaxed and in good humor, exchanging quips with ground stations.

The report of the cat naps came after he had been outside nearly two hours. During the daylight period, his only assignment was to change the camera lenses.

Probe Precautions For Moon Explorers

By RONALD THOMPSON

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The first three Americans who take a roundtrip voyage to the moon will be treated more like they had the plague, than as heroes of the day—at least for a few weeks.

There'll be no tickertape parades, handshakes from the President or even hugs and kisses from their families until the U.S. Public Health Service makes sure the cosmic travelers didn't bring home some strange lunar vermin.

Fear Harmful Organisms
Some scientific circles have long expressed fears that men who explore the universe might unknowingly come in contact with harmful organisms that could thrive on our planet. With this possibility in mind, however remote, National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans take no chances.

Winners Include Rolvaag, McCormack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, rejected for renomination by his own Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, won the chance on his own Tuesday to seek a second term in the Nov. 8 general election.

In another of Tuesday's 11 primary elections, Edward J. McCormack, a long-time challenger to the Kennedy clan, captured the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts. He defeated Kenneth P. O'Donnell, a top aide to President John F. Kennedy.

Former House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, 81, was upset by a 35-year-old housewife and lawyer, Margaret M. Heckler, in his bid for Republican nomination to a 22nd term in another Massachusetts race. Martin was speaker during the 80th and 83rd Congresses and was Republican leader for 16 years before being toppled by Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind.

Note Homestretch In Oscar Derby; Reviews Entries

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the season when the leaves start to golden and the swallows buzz out of Capistrano. It also marks the beginning of the home stretch in the Oscar derby.

It is shaping up as a lively race, one of the best in years if the prestigious autumn releases fulfill their promise.

Set Early Pace
The pace was set earlier this year by "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" which had the shock value and dramatic power to nominate itself immediately, and in all departments.

The film may produce the oddity of having all four players nominated in the four acting categories: Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton as stars and Sandy Dennis and George Segal as support. The Burtons conceivably could win history's first "his" and "hers" Oscars.

Little else that has been released earlier in the year seems to be in top contention. Alan Arkin made an impressive debut in "The Russians are Coming etc." and could be nominated. There are nomination chances in various categories for "Khartoum," "Fantastic Voyage" (effects), "Alfie," "The Blue Max" and "Harper."

Blockbusters Coming
The blockbusters are yet to come, and they will be jamming Los Angeles theaters in December to make the Academy deadline.

Fox has two big ones on the way. "The Bible" is likely to create a stir, both for its direction by John Huston and in various performances, although the episodic nature of the film could mitigate against the latter.

Robert Wise, a two-time winner with "West Side Story" and "Sound of Music," is rushing the completion of his $11-million "The Sand Pebbles" to make the deadline. Also from Fox: "Hombre," a Paul Newman Western.

Julie Andrews, nominated twice in a row, could make it a third with the epic "Hawaii." The United Artists film is a possibility for best picture honors, as well as for the acting of Max Von Sydow. United Artists also has hopes for Zero Mostel in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." And Walter Matthau in "The Fortune Cookie."

Columbia Has Three
Columbia has three big ones on the way: Richard Brooks' "The Professionals" with Burt Lancaster, Lee Marvin, etc.; Fred Zinnemann's "A Man for All Seasons" with Paul Scofield; and the Peter O'Toole-Omar Sharif film, "Night of the Generals."

Other studios appear to be placing their chances on single releases. Paramount has the multistar "Is Paris Burning?" MGM is planning a late release of the racing adventure, "Grand Prix." Universal's prestige item is "Fahrenheit 451." Francois Truffaut's first film in English.

Potsdam GI Killed In Grenade Practice

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Army Staff Sgt. Nelson A. Waite Jr. of Potsdam, in northern New York, perished Tuesday when a grenade exploded while he was attempting to disarm it.

The grenade had been hurled on a practice range by a recruit. When the device failed to explode, Waite, who was on duty at the range, went to examine it.

Waite spent most of his 21 years in the Army as a demolitions expert. Before entering military service, he was a quarryman and had handled explosives.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Waite of Potsdam, his wife, Ursula, and their three-year-old daughter.

Report on GIs Recreation Time From Viet Front

By PETER O'LOUGHLIN
MANILA (AP) — "Man, first I'm going to get me a hot shower, then a cold beer, the biggest steak I can find, a soft bed. Then I'm going to sleep for two days."

Grimy and tired, the 1st Cavalry trooper had just arrived in Manila from South Viet Nam with 35 other soldiers for five days of rest and recreation. That's R and R in soldier slang.

Several Sites

Other soldiers had flown to other R and R centers around Asia — Bangkok, Singapore, Hong Kong, Kuala Lumpur, Penang, and Formosa.

"Most of these guys aren't hell raisers like they used to be in the old days," said Lt. Ed Guest, a Navy veteran of 26 years who organizes Manila's R and R center.

"Saigon has got all the bars they'll ever want to see. When they come here they're just ordinary tourists. They want to rest, eat good food and see the sights. Most of all they want an air-conditioned hotel room and room service."

Guest briefs the soldiers on the delights and dangers of Manila, telling them to wear civilian clothes at all times, to pay their hotel bills in advance and to stay out of trouble.

"We've had 8,000 men through here since January and no trouble — so don't be the one to spoil the record," he tells them. The briefing is repeated daily in the other R and R centers, where soldiers go at the rate of 1,000 a week to forget about the Viet Nam war for a few days.

Want Eats, Rest

They are tired but glad to be among friends in a city where there is little chance of some one exploding a plastic bomb while they are eating a bowl of noodle soup.

Named Director

Edwin S. Moler Jr., has been elected a director of the board of Hercules Europe, S.A., it was announced today by Hercules Incorporated. Hercules has a plant in Port Ewen. The appointment, which is effective immediately, was announced by H. J. Taufen, general manager, International Department. Moler will transfer to Brussels, Belgium, as soon as practical. A native of West Orange, N. J., Moler received a BA Degree in chemistry from Lehigh University. He also completed one year of postgraduate work there. He joined Hercules as a chemist in 1953 after serving in the United States Air Force. He served first in the Synthetics Department in 1961. His first duties in International were in development work in Latin America. Later he was sales manager for South America. In February, 1966, he was named manager of development for the department.

The R and R program — started during the Korean War and now refined and expanded — has put the United States into the travel business in a big way. At the same time it is providing a lucrative multimillion-dollar windfall to traders, hotel keepers, restaurant owners and shady ladies.

Bangkok, the capital of Thailand and exotic city of saffron-robed monks, golden temples, beautiful girls and fiery Mekong whisky — not a drop sold until two days old — is the biggest and most popular of the R and R centers.

"You've never seen such long faces as those on the men lined up at the airport to go back to Viet Nam," said Capt. Hans Wagner of Tallahassee, Fla., who supervises the Bangkok R and R center.

"It's like heaven. Of course, I've never been there," said Marine Lance Cpl. Mike Walker, a mortar man from Huntington, Ind., as he sipped a beer in the bar of one of the dozens of modern hotels that have sprung up in Bangkok.

For Pfc. James Cobb, a grenadier from Atlanta, Ga., R and R provides plenty of recreation but not much rest.

"I've been on the go since I got here. I wouldn't say I'm resting, just having a wonderful time," he said.

Wagner's briefing to the new arrivals covers everything from clip joints to how to bargain for Thai silk.

To Halt Pollution

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Crown Zellerbach Corp. paper mill at Carthage, N.Y., and the village of West Carthage, both near Watertown, say they will cease polluting the Black River.

Company officials said Tuesday at a State Health Department hearing the plant would construct sewage-treatment facilities or connect with the municipal system.

At the same time, village officials agreed to construct a treatment plant.

Both were charged with dumping sewage and industrial wastes into the river, which is classified along that section as capable of supporting fish life, despite agricultural and industrial use.

CONGRESSIONAL VOTE

From now until November, political pundits will proffer prognostications and ponder the possibilities of the upcoming congressional elections.

Will concern over Viet Nam, inflation and racial unrest be translated into significant Republican inroads into the Democratic majorities in the House and Senate?

Few observers expect this will happen—unless one or all of these issues somehow begin to generate more voter dissatisfaction than they have so far. And nothing short of a major national crisis could result in a complete overturn of party control in the House, where all the members (presently two-to-one Democratic) are up for reelection.

But if the prospects are rosy for the Democrats, it is not just because of the issues—or the lack of them. They are likely to remain the majority party simply because they are the majority party.

A new book, "Elections and the Political Order" by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center, offers fresh evidence to support something many have long believed: Most Americans vote consistently for their favorite party, with little thought about issues or candidates.

In the 1958 congressional race, for instance, the researchers found that 84 per cent of all votes for the House were cast by party members supporting their party's candidates.

Only about seven per cent—less than one person in 10—claimed that valid political issues had anything to do with the way they voted.

Party loyalties are typically learned early in life, usually in the family, and are extremely long-lasting. Since a particular candidate's party label is the only piece of information many voters ever get—or care to get—it virtually assures the majority party of congressional control.

What the voters do not get, however, is assurance that they will receive legislative action that is promised by the party label.

"The candidates who have presented themselves to the country under two party symbols immediately break ranks following the election," say the authors. The parties speak in Congress not as two voices but as a "cacophony of blocs and individuals fulfilling their own definitions of the public good."

Thus a congressman who is an artful campaigner "is able to develop electoral strength that is almost totally dissociated from what his party wants in Congress and what he himself has done about it."

When a congressman fails to heed party discipline and votes against his party, it may sometimes be due to demands from the people back home. But a more reasonable explanation, suggest the authors is "because he knows the constituency isn't looking."

How many people, indeed, are looking? How many know who their representatives are? Or even which party holds the majority in Congress?

Interviews of a cross-section of voters in 1958 revealed that only 47 per cent—less than half—could answer that second question.

Senator McClellan would give federal contractors patent rights on what they discover. Well, after all, they do the work. All Uncle Sam contributes is the money.

THE SUICIDE PROBLEM

How far the government should go in protecting the individual from himself has been a question of concern for years, but it is one that is still pertinent. In the matter of persons who attempt suicide, for instance, the problem becomes more pressing as civilization becomes more complex, for in the main suicide is a problem of civilization.

Primitive people seldom commit suicide. City dwellers attempt it more than those who live in the country, business and professional people more often than laborers. As this nation proceeds toward the highly urbanized society of the future, the threat of increasing numbers of suicides becomes one of growing urgency. Too little attention is paid to this danger.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE KING KNOWS THE WESTERN WORLD

Bangkok, Thailand—You have been in Bangkok a day, and you suddenly wake up to the fact that you haven't seen a single Siamese cat. They seem rarer than white elephants. Asking for an explanation, you are told there are more Siamese cats in America than in Thailand. The Thai people have all along been assimilationist; they have been absorbing Chinese into their family, mercantile and government structures for a long time. And to judge from the western, or alley, type of cat that you see here in plenty, there must be a policy of cat assimilation, too.

Or maybe it is an exchange proposition: the "east," as typified by the Siamese cat, goes to America, and the "west" exports its own fashions to the east. The cultural diffusion is found on the very highest level. What strikes the visitor in asking questions about the government of Thailand is eliciting the information that the king-ship here has far more than merely ceremonial meaning. His Majesty King Bhumibol takes an active part in affairs of state, which is "old European" rather than anything that might be called American. But the story of the Thai Royal Family, as it has unfolded during the past two generations, is something that is very American in its flavor, and it should appeal to American readers.

Let's start back in the Nineteen Twenties, when the present King's father, Prince Mahidol, was studying at Harvard in the United States. Prince Mahidol had his own ideas. Bored with the official life that had been projected for him, he insisted on going to America to study a career in public health. In Boston he met a Thai girl, a commoner, who was studying to be a nurse. He married her. The American, or democratic, flavor to the marriage is that it provoked no particular reaction in Thailand. Edward VIII of England could not marry a commoner and get away with it, but a Thai prince could.

The story goes that Prince Mahidol refused to go to work in a state hospital because he knew that, if he did, he would be accorded special favors. He preferred a private hospital in the provinces, far to the north of Bangkok in the frontier town of Chiang Mai. Again the American note is struck: the Prince, in insisting that he do things on his own, was acting like Winthrop Rockefeller, who preferred getting his business training as a roustabout in the oil fields rather than taking a top post with Standard Oil in New York.

Unfortunately, the democratic Prince died before he could get on with his public health career. He lived just long enough to interest the Rockefeller Foundation in Thai medicine, and thus he gave the nation its first medical school. He is known today as the father of modern medicine in Thailand.

The Prince's son, now King Bhumibol Aduladej, is in the American tradition all the way. He was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts, in 1927. He grew up in Switzerland, where, in the intervals when he was not studying languages, he indulged a passion for American jazz. He learned to play the saxophone, which he still enjoys doing as an occasional member of his own Royal Band. After he had succeeded his brother Ananda on the throne, he was crowned in Bangkok at the age of nineteen. King Bhumibol continued to work at composing music; one of his many songs was taken by Mike Todd in the early Nineties. Fifties for a Broadway production.

The King married his second cousin, a beauty named Sirikit who was the daughter of a Thai ambassador of royal blood. Queen Sirikit turned out to be just as stuffy as her husband. She has been known to knock about the North in Thailand in slacks and sneakers with the King, who likes to walk in the hills to distribute medicine and clothes and drives his own sturdy Jeep. It is not important that Americans should love the King of Thailand because of the democratic flavor of his background. But sympathy for the King's symbolic relationship to the West can be a plus if it helps Americans to sustain their own part in the struggle to keep the Red Chinese from dominating the Asiatic world. Of perhaps even greater importance is the fact that the King, along with others in his government, is not in the least provincial. They know from observation that American power, if sincerely applied, is sufficient to help them keep Thailand what its name literally implies, the "land of the free."

Electronics Has Important Place in Medicine, Too

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Modern electronic devices are being used in every field including human physiology, the chemistry of living organisms and the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

One of the first of these, the electrocardiograph, has been with us for over 50 years and has become a common and indispensable item of medical equipment. Earlier models have been improved and simplified and the number of different angles from which the electric impulses within the heart may be studied has been greatly extended from the original three leads.

Valuable as this device is, it has its limitations. It is employed chiefly to detect disorders of cardiac rhythm such as skipped beats, abnormally fast pulse and various types of heart-block, the changes that occur when the left side of the heart is greatly enlarged and those that occur after an obstruction in a coronary artery has damaged the heart muscle. Unfortunately it cannot predict an impending coronary attack.

The electroencephalograph or brain wave machine was developed over 35 years ago and has its greatest field of usefulness in detecting epilepsy in persons even when they are not having an attack. It may also give your doctor a clue concerning brain damage caused by concussion, brain tumor or oxygen deficiency.

The short wave diathermy machine applies heat to painful muscles and joints to depths beneath the skin which a hot water bottle or electric pad cannot penetrate.

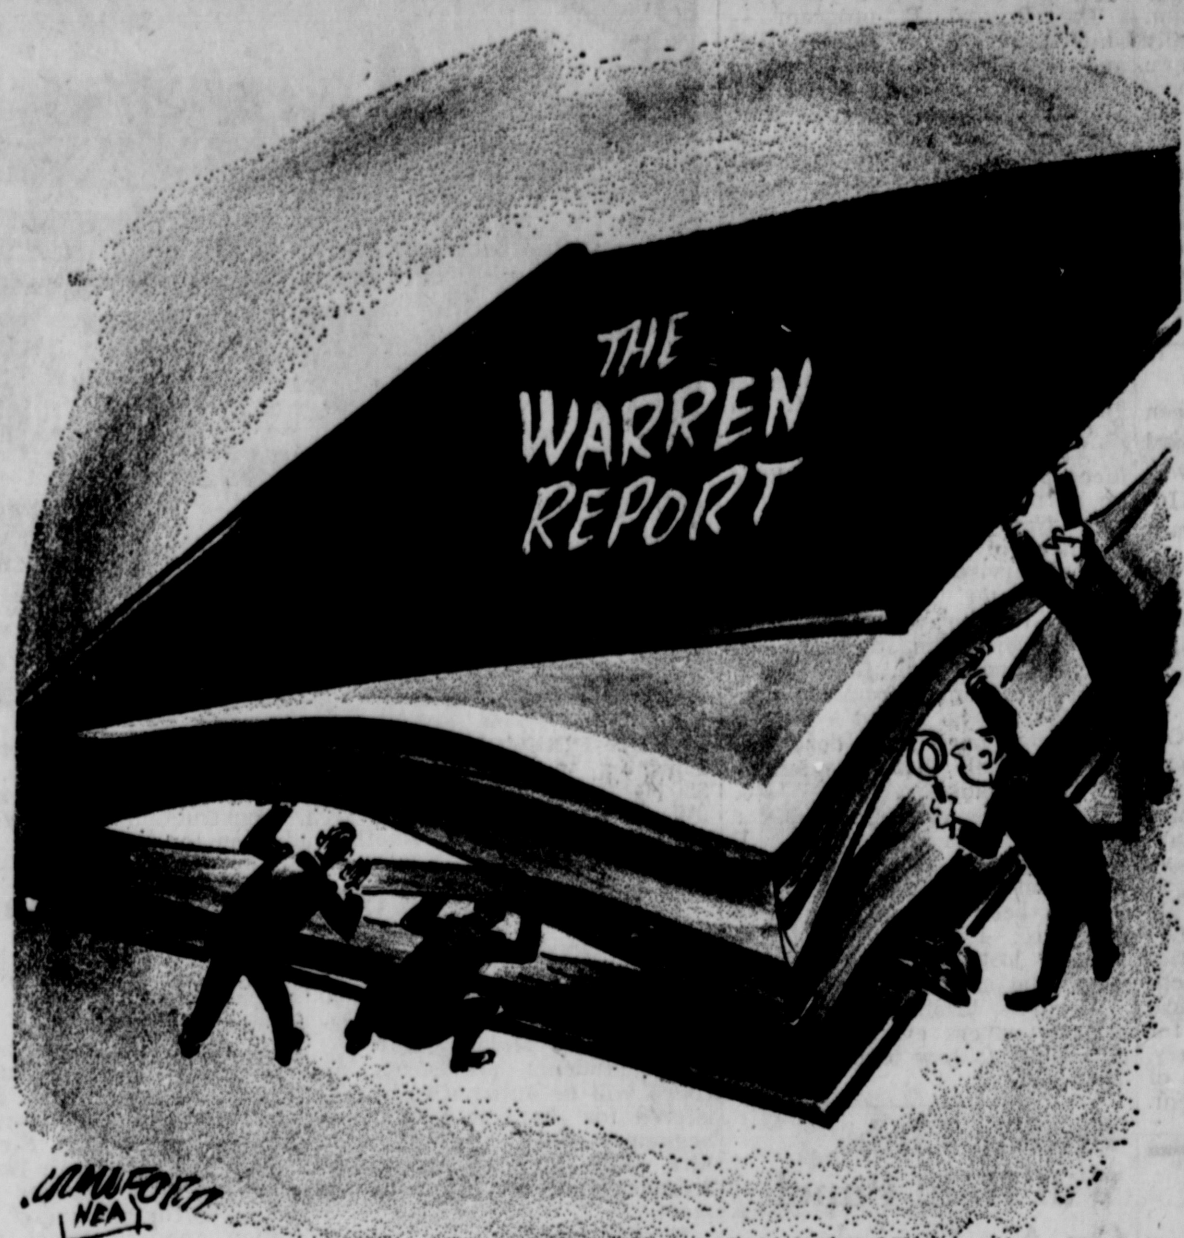

The electric cautery is a device used by surgeons to destroy diseased tissues that are hard to remove with a knife. For example, the probing end, which is not much wider than a needle, can be introduced through a cystoscope into the bladder. A current brings to a red heat only the tip of the probe. Without having to cut into the bladder, yet under direct vision through the scope, cautery can be used to remove a tumor.

The endoradiosonde or radio pill is an ingenious device about 0.4-inch in diameter and 1.2 inches long. It contains a radio transmitter and, when swallowed, will send out to a bedside monitor such information about conditions within the digestive tract as temperature, level of acidity or alkalinity, enzyme activity and a variety of other information. Other electronic aids to the practice of medicine will be described tomorrow.

proaches to the problem. In Minnesota, for instance, a policeman cannot legally take a suicidal person into custody, even for his own protection. At the other extreme, Pennsylvania law makes suicide a crime, and anyone who attempts it unsuccessfully may be arrested and brought before the court.

A suicidal person needs help, not jail. The question has been posed and an answer should be more diligently sought: What is the best way to help a person with suicidal tendencies, without infringing unduly on his personal liberty?

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the Agriculture Department would think more daringly about increasing exports and less bureaucratically about crop controls, the United States would be better off and the United States balance of payments problem less serious.

Studies of foreign markets indicate that in the next decade the United States farmer should be able to steadily increase his exports on a wide front. This, he will be able to do this if his competitive position is not destroyed by government restrictions.

World shortages of food and other agricultural products are going to get worse in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

The population in a host of countries is growing faster than their ability to increase food production.

Take Japan as an outstanding example. Forecasts of Japan's economic growth indicate that the country is in a position to increase imports of basic American agricultural crops over-all by 3 per cent a year.

Japan is now the No. 1 foreign market for United States agricultural products. That island country alone took 14 per cent of all United States agricultural exports in 1965, compared with the 23 per cent taken by the entire European Common Market.

Japan took more cotton, wheat and rice last year than the European Community and exceeded all individual countries in dollar imports of soybeans, corn grain sorghums, barley, hides and skins and tallow.

During the past five years there have been sharp increases in United States exports to Japan of soybean and other oilseeds, wheat, rice, feed grains, tallow, tobacco, fruit and nonfat dry milk.

Detailed studies of Japan's future needs by Japanese economists indicate that this should be only the beginning.

Japan's total beef imports from all countries are expected to more than quadruple between 1965 and 1975.

In that same period, the studies predict: Japan's total wheat imports will jump a third, feed grain imports triple, cotton imports rise 20 per cent, high-grade tobacco imports double, dairy product imports move up sharply.

If the United States is alert and our prices are competitive, the American farmer will get a large chunk of those increases.

Japan is only one example of growing worldwide needs for United States food and other agricultural products.

Per capita food production between 1961 and 1966 moved down 2.8 per cent in the Far East, 3 per cent in Africa and 3.9 per cent in Latin America.

Experts estimate that if present population and agricultural trends continue there will be famines of serious proportions in India, Pakistan and Red China early in the next decade with equally serious shortages in Indonesia, Iran, Egypt and Turkey a few years later.

These reports indicate that at present world population increases, world agricultural production will have to triple within the next 34 years to barely make possible a "modest" diet for everyone.

Viet Vote Vindicates U.S. Idealism in Defending Right

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — An extraordinary election — perhaps the most remarkable in modern history — has just taken place in South Viet Nam. The vote by 80 percent of the persons registered was a larger percentage than has ever been experienced in a national election in the United States. It was not the big turnout, however, but the circumstances under which the election was held that establish it as a unique expression of a free people exercising their right of self-determination.

As far as the United States government is concerned, it has every reason to be gratified. The fact that an election actually was held without duress and despite the terrorism of the Communist Viet Cong in certain districts is proof that the idealism which has motivated the Americans in defending the right of South Viet Nam to self-government has been fully vindicated.

Prime Minister Ky, in his comment on the result, declared that it "spells the beginning of the end" for the Communist threat to his country. He said that the entire world must recognize that the massive turnout at the polls on Sunday was solid evidence that the Viet Nam people are determined to fight for their freedom.

It is not surprising that the North Vietnamese in their broad-casts called the balloting a "farce" and claimed the voters were ordered to the polling places. But there were enough observers—more than 400 news correspondents—at hand to disprove such an allegation.

The latest figures show that 80.8 per cent of the eligible or registered voters turned out, into a private polling booth. Each voter was permitted to go make his choice, and deposit his ballot in a box. Troops stood nearby to guard against Viet Cong attacks, but they had nothing to do with the voting itself.

The turnout varied in different localities. But in the coastal provinces, where the Communist Viet Cong are more powerful than the government, the turnout was close to 90 per cent.

Undoubtedly some protest votes were cast, and many ballots spoiled. But there is no question about the complete victory recorded for the selection of a 117-member Assembly to draft a Constitution. The list of those elected to the Assembly includes several names which are well known throughout the country. There were 568 candidates for 108 of the seats—nine being reserved for remote minority groups—so the voters did have a choice, which is something that doesn't happen in Communist countries. Thirty of the successful candidates are Roman Catholics, and 34 are Buddhists. Only 18 out of the 50 military men who were candidates were elected.

American officials are naturally encouraged by the result, as they did not expect such a huge turnout. Prime Minister Ky himself had predicted somewhere between 60 and 70 per cent would go to the polls, and few of the forecasts had gone much above 70 per cent. There are reports that, when the final count of the votes is made, it will show a figure in excess of 80 per cent.

There were, as some reports have indicated, a certain number who did not know exactly what they were voting for. But this could also happen with a minority in any country. The vote cast in this instance was intended to select delegates for a constituent assembly which in turn would write a constitution and set up the framework for a civilian government.

While some voters—as in America—might not understand the complicated process of constitutional government, they do know how a free government differs from a Communist regime such as dominates North Viet Nam.

The Vietnamese people as a whole knew what was at stake. They realized that, in order to get peace, they must have a stable government and that the people must select its members. The election of a new assembly is but one step. Once the constitution is written, another election will be held to pick the members of the Viet Nam parliament and other officials of the new government.

The election received considerable publicity throughout the world. The story will become known behind the iron curtain. Undoubtedly many persons in the Communist nations will be envious, and wish that some day they, too, might enjoy free elections instead of the dictatorial type which offers a single slate of candidates under government orders.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Our family has a good permanent look at age. Next month, John Michael Bishop will be 83. Rocky, our German shepherd, is near ten, which is equivalent to the human age of 70. Both have given up chasing girls. My father did it first. Both have new joys: eating and sleeping. Champs, both of them.

My father has been in the sunset of life so long he thinks it's painted on the hills. Once he was six feet tall. Now he looks like four feet thirteen. He walks bent forward, the feet shuffling, the blue eyes staring up through a forest of brows. Rocky, once weighed 85 pounds. Now he's 60, and he limps. His muzzle is white, his eyes are near-sighted, and he barks at friends and wags his tail in apology.

At almost any time of day around our house, the dog will be found sleeping with his chin on his paws. My father will be sitting in the living room with the morning paper held out at the proper distance, but he is sound asleep. He wears his glasses to keep the dreams in focus.

Neither of them sleeps well at night. At 2 a. m. the dog gives himself a slumber bath in the dark. If possible, he will visit my father in his room, standing timidly in the doorway to get an invitation. John pats him softly and murmurs: "Good old Rocky. Good old Rocky."

They enjoy reasonably good health, give or take a limb or two. The dog has a tumor in his left front shoulder. John has trouble with breathing and has a chronic itch across the stomach. Dr. Ward takes a periodic look at Rocky and says: "He's in good shape for the shape he's in." Dr. Bennett visits my father and gives him a diuretic which pumps out the bilges.

Both are precise about food. My father was always a prime ribs man. A big roast beef bone with some meat on it is the equivalent of a quart of expensive perfume to a high school girl. Lately, he has been getting longings for special foods: insatiable longings. The whole family knows what this symbolizes—big, flat and hot—with maple syrup and butter running like lava down the sides. He ate six one night and sat stupefied with joy long after everyone else left the table. Sometimes it is Kelly's potato salad. In Rocky's case, he will eat anything but dog food. The sight of it wounds his pride, because he thinks he's a people.

He never bothers anyone at the table, but he will walk around it, chin up, sniffing, and he can turn on the poor-me expression at will. A few weeks ago, we had little Kevin Hughes and his brother Jim, and his parents as houseguests. Kevin is three and he saw Big John eating corn flakes for dinner. He glanced at me, and I whispered that my father had been a naughty boy and had to eat corn flakes for dinner.

Little Kevin's eyes showed that he had a heart full of sympathy. The next night, when he sat at his plate of leg of lamb, mashed potatoes, peas and gravy, he glanced quickly at John Bishop. Corn flakes again. Kevin glanced at me. I nodded. The first night my father ate a regular dinner. Kev clapped his hands with joy.

Since he left, his mother, Janet, wrote a letter. She says that she can't get Kev to eat corn flakes. When he sees them on his plate in the morning, he yelps: "I didn't do nothin'." The nearest thing we've had to panic in the city was the night my father felt an attack of nerves coming on and couldn't open the liquor cabinet. This has now been straightened out, and so has my father.

He sleeps in a reclining chair. As he has for many years, under a sheet, with at least one light on in the room. He is surrounded by books, because he loves to read, and he is the only person I know who will read an atlas from the front page to the back, and then forget the name of the highest mountain.

In age, Rocky's plumbing is under stress, and the family tires of being butler to a dog—opening the door for him to go out, reopening it to let him in. When he whines to go out, and the girls protest: "You were out one minute ago," he hangs his head and walks into John's bedroom for a little understanding.

Dad takes his own showers, placing a wicker chair in the stall so that he can sit to wash his feet. He dresses and undresses himself, and sometimes manages to match the top of the pajamas with the bottoms. He reads two New York newspapers and the Miami Herald each day, and he reads everything including the classified ads. When he's finished, he complains that he can hardly remember one damn thing he's read.

In the evening, John and Rocky take a slow stroll down the street, side by side. It's a con game, because each one thinks he's being taken care of by the other.

Arizona Man Votes After Harrowing Day

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Al Larson voted in Arizona's primary election Tuesday but . . .

Larson was working at a sports auto track about 30 miles northwest of Phoenix when flood waters from heavy rain rushed several feet deep through a wash, cutting off his only exit. Larson telephoned his son in a phone-equipped car, and an airplane was sent. Larson's wife picked him up in a car at the airport and drove him to the polls. The polling place was a church across the street from Larson's home.

Community College Growth Zooms in New York State

(This is the third in a series of five general articles on the role of the community college as prepared by the educational staff at Ulster County Community College.)

Mirroring a nationwide trend, community colleges have zoomed in growth in New York State to play an increasingly more important role in the State University.

They are providing a dynamic new dimension to higher education. No where has this been more graphically illustrated than here at Ulster County Community College, which began from nothing only three short years ago. From that start it has grown to become an important community-oriented institution which this September will have almost 1,300 full and part-time students.

The state's community colleges came into being because needs existed which other educational institutions weren't adequately meeting. It was felt these colleges would provide terminal programs useful to the high school graduate who would not pursue college work to the baccalaureate degree. Another goal was the role of preparing students for transfer to senior colleges.

The first community college in New York State was Mohawk Valley Community College in Utica started in 1946. The next year — 1947 — four more community colleges were started. They were Broome Technical Community College at Binghamton, Erie County Technical Institute at Buffalo, New York City Community College in Brooklyn and the Westchester Community College at Valhalla.

The state's community colleges kept multiplying in succeeding years with Community Colleges in Ulster, Sullivan, Jefferson and Niagara Counties joining the family in 1963.

The State University provides the initiative for establishing a community college in a particular region. But the actual establishment must be made individually or jointly by the local sponsor—any city, county or school district which has been approved by the State University trustees.

The local sponsor and the state each pay one half of the capital costs and one third of the operating expenses. Student tuition and fees pay the other third of operating costs.

Enrollments Rising
Enrollments have been steadily rising at the state's community colleges. They enrolled 13,715 students in 1960. This increased to 39,913 by 1965 and according to forecasts will be a minimum of 72,100 by 1970.

The state's community colleges are dedicated to education as a lifelong necessity, not just a concern for a two-year period in the life of the high school graduate. The concern is for the individual and to help him or her solve their problems, whether young or old. That could be a housewife with budgeting problems, an insurance agent desiring a specialized course or a full-time day student preparing for industrial technology or business administration.

Although seeking to inculcate some sense of tradition into the student body, the community colleges shun tradition in the academic sphere. That's because they want to keep the flexibility they need to educate a wide variety of students. Above all, they're not afraid to try new things.

One new thing being tried by community colleges in the state, including Ulster County Community College, is non-degree programs for students whose motivation or aspirations are not for study in credit programs. The goal is, not only to help them develop a marketable skill, but also attempt to provide a base of general education to enhance the student's well being.

In addition, the community colleges have established curricula for students planning to transfer to four-year schools after earning an associate degree. Such students transferring into the State University's four-year colleges are on the upswing. This year, there were 1,287 such transfers compared to 1,058 in 1964-65. In addition, there's a goodly number of community college graduates transferring to private four-year colleges in New York State and in other states.

Liberal Arts Study
Less than a third of the community college students in the state now are engaged in liberal arts study. But eventually, State University officials feel, there will be an equal number of liberal arts and occupational students.

This doesn't mean any downgrading of the technologies. Already possessing a large number of technology programs, the community colleges plan to strengthen them to meet increasing enrollments in the years ahead. That's because the space age has brought a rapidly increasing demand for technology graduates.

The state now has 28 community colleges, with seven more proposed to be in operation by 1970. Included will be new ones in Schenectady-Saratoga Counties and Greene-Columbia Counties.

Between 1970 and 1980, there will have to be at least 50 community colleges in operation throughout the state to meet enrollment demands, according to Dr. Sebastian V. Martorana, the State University's Executive Dean for Two-Year Colleges. That means the community colleges will play an increasingly more important role.

But that's the only way to avoid the threat of inundation by waves of students for four-year colleges and universities. Consequently, the community college carries the hope for the future to offer significant assistance to higher education.

(Tomorrow's article will outline in general community college financing.)

Water Emergency Equipment Course

The last in a statewide series of six emergency water supply equipment training courses, conducted by the State Civil Defense Commission in cooperation with the Departments of Health and Public Works, will be held in Wingdale, Dutchess County, on Wednesday, September 21. This training is designed to familiarize local officials with the types of equipment available, a working knowledge of its operation and requirements for borrowing it.

The courses have been instituted to prepare local officials to deal with water shortage situations caused by the drought of the last several years. The sessions are of particular value to representatives of public and private water companies, civil defense, health, public works and fire departments. Officials from the following counties are eligible to attend: Dutchess, Nassau, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Suffolk, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester.

More than 70 communities and localities have utilized similar emergency water supply equipment made available by the State Civil Defense Commission in the past five years.

In lieu of the bail Marshall was committed to the county jail.

State Police at Ellenville reported the Doremus home was entered last Aug. 19 about 9:30 p. m. and a lamp was reported missing. Miss Doremus was alerted by the entrance and when she came downstairs the invader is reported to have been frightened away.

Hornell to Receive $726,750 U. S. Grant

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The City of Hornell and the Village of North Hornell will receive a $726,750 Appalachian grant for construction of a sewage treatment plant, federal officials and Gov. Rockefeller's office reported today.

Approval of the grant headed the agenda at a Washington meeting of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Rockefeller's announcement said the Appalachian grant, plus allotments under the state's "Pure Waters" program and the federal Walter Pollution Control Act will give Hornell 90 per cent of the cost of the project—$2,422,500.

The communities will provide the remaining 10 per cent of the construction cost.

There was no indication as to when construction would begin.

Ulster Library Board Meeting Names Directors

The Board of Directors of the Town of Ulster Library met recently and re-elected for three-year terms, Mrs. Marie Gorse-line, Richard Nace, William H. Williams and Nick Valenzano.

The board then elected its officers, Bruce Burgher, president; Mrs. Barbara Bender, vice president; Mrs. Ellen Frawley, secretary; and Robert Ohlson, treasurer. Mrs. Bette Maxson, former secretary, read the letter of resignation as president of the board written by Edward R. Crosby who finds the pressures of other activities too demanding.

He will continue his term as a board member. It was with regret the board accepted his resignation, as he has been one of the central figures in establishing a new library in the area and has worked hard and given many hours of his time to see the building actually become a landmark in the town. The board wished him success in his endeavors which are also community minded, that of working with retarded children, having accepted the position of president of the Ulster County Chapter.

The library is now on regular hours and is open Monday through Thursday, 7-9 p. m., Tuesday through Friday, 2:30-4:30 p. m., and Saturdays, 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

The week of Sept. 12-17 is Free of Fines Week. All overdue books will be accepted with no fine so that all books kept out due to vacations, change in hours can be returned.

Rummage and book sales to help the pay off the mortgage fund will be held the Saturdays of Oct. 1, 8 and 15 from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., the regular library hours. An appeal is being made to all to drop off their old books, odd items, clothing and general miscellany that can be sold to benefit the library. All merchandise may be left at the library during hours it is open. Coffee and doughnuts will also be sold. These sales will be held in the basement.

The board wishes to thank John Johnston who has greenhouses on Albany Avenue for again supplying the library with beautiful plants. This time he has donated and planted chrysanthemum plants in the front of the building. His plantings on the south side have been most attractive all summer.

John Burger has donated his time by washing all windows inside and out, as well as watering the front shrubbery through the past dry summer. James Corrigan has done his part with his own lawnmower to keep the grounds neat. He, along with Paul Vogt, and Teddy Pfeiffer, have kept the flag flying every day. To all of these faithful volunteers, the library board is most grateful.

Need Scoutmaster For Lake Hillers

The need for a scoutmaster and one or two assistants has resulted in calling a meeting of all parents of Boy Scouts who are members of Troop 62 of Lake Hill, on Monday, Sept. 26, at the firehouse at 8 p. m.

Paul Shultis, institutional representative of Boy Scout Troop 62, sponsored by Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3, reports that the resignation of Scoutmaster Arthur Smith due to the pressure of business, leaves the troop without a leader.

Troop 62 was organized some three years ago, according to Shultis, and a complete program has been given to boys of the community served by the fire company. The institutional representative said it is very important that all parents of the boys attend the Sept. 26 meeting, and he indicated that the troop, due to re-register in November, might not continue if suitable leadership is not found.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Offers Tribute To Late Artist

Long-time Woodstock resident and artist, Anna Carolan, who operated a museum on Library Lane here, for many years, has penned the following tribute to Madeline Shiff Wiltz, who died recently.

"It is very hard to realize that our dear friend, Mrs. Madeline Shiff Wiltz, has left us. She was a gifted artist, a loyal friend and a loving mother and grandmother."

"Born in Denver, Colo., in 1883, she received her education at Adelphi Academy and College, and was married to the late painter, Arnold Wiltz. In 1926, Madeline, Arnold and their one-year-old son, Eric, traveled to Europe to meet the Wiltz family in Germany and visit museums in Munich and Dresden. From there, they proceeded to Paris to visit Madeline's cousin, Andre Previn, the noted painter. Returning to the United States, they resumed residence in Woodstock, worked in their studios in Bearsville and each held exhibitions in well-known galleries in New York City."

"After the death of her husband, Mrs. Wiltz acquired property on Elchman Lane in Woodstock, on which she built an unusual Quonset-type house, charmingly decorated with her own ceramic tiles."

"Our sympathy goes out to Madeline's family and friends. Those who knew and admired Mrs. Wiltz will be interested in knowing that memorial services will be held for the late artist Saturday, Sept. 17, at 2 p. m., at the Artists Memorial Cemetery, Woodstock."

Gardner Gallery Holds Fall Show

"For those who journey through the highways and byways during the autumn season to enjoy the brilliant coloring seen only at that time of the year, the Gardner Gallery of Woodstock has arranged an exhibition of paintings showing Nature at its height," says B. Sturtevant Gardner, proprietor of the local art gallery.

"The leaves may fade and fall but the pigments remain pure and rich in color, and multicolored hillsides and samplings of Nature are captured and framed by artists exhibiting in our current show," says Miss Gardner. "Both oils and watercolors are at their best in this show," she says, "capturing the vanishing covered bridge, the mountain notch and the color patterns against a sky in all their true beauty."

The Gardner Gallery, opened earlier this season, is located on Meads Mt. Road, just above Glasco, Turnpike. Hours for viewing are 1 to 5 p. m. daily and during weekends through September and by appointment during October. Appointments may be made by calling the gallery.

Garden Club Gets Repeat Requests

Woodstock Garden Club's card party last week proved to be a delightful and pleasant social event, according to those attending.

The early afternoon event was centered around a tea table decorated in a color scheme of yellow and tangerine. A beautiful flower arrangement had been donated by the Flower Garden of Saugerties in colors to carry out the decoration of the tea table.

Coffee, tea and cake were served and Mrs. Arthur Jones, chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the club, who was in charge of this new activity on the part of the local organization, was gratified by requests from the many guests attending for another such party next year.

Assisting Mrs. Jones in planning and arranging the party were Mrs. Brainard West, club president; Mrs. Ernest Muller, vice-president and program chairman; and Mrs. Florence Saqui, social chairman.

Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. William Stelling. A 10-session class for prospective new members and others who wish to refresh their understanding of the Lutheran Church is being conducted by the Rev. Norman C. Krapf each Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Lori Anne McNamara, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McNamara of Woodstock, will be received into the church Sunday through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. Lori's sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Rene Bingnot. Seventh and eighth grade Confirmation Classes will be formed Saturday, Sept. 24. Parents should accompany their children in order to gain information about course requirements. The eighth grade class will meet at 10 a. m.; the 9th grade at 11 a. m.

Roast Beef Dinner

A public roast beef dinner will be served at the church hall of the Methodist Church of Shady, Saturday, Oct. 8, beginning at 5:30 p. m.

The event was announced today by Miss Evelyn Stone, chairman of the Official Board of the church, who said that proceeds from the dinner would be utilized for church expenses.

Mrs. Arthur MacDaniel will be in charge of the dinner, with both men and ladies of the church and community helping in various capacities.

Describe Priest As Belligerent In Albany Rift

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A priest who attempted to intercede on behalf of a Negro employee at a Roman Catholic hospital stands characterized as "loud" and "belligerent" at his trial on charges arising out of the dispute.

An official of St. Peter's Hospital gave that description Tuesday of The Rev. Donald J. Bauer, pastor of Corpus Christi Church in South Onondaga, near Syracuse.

Arrested Wednesday

Father Bauer was arrested last Wednesday on charges of unlawful intrusion and disorderly conduct after he and a labor leader, David W. Patrick, president of Local 200, Building Service Employees International Union, had gone to the hospital to discuss a Negro worker's complaint.

The employee, a woman, said her work hours had been reduced because of union activity. The union is attempting to organize the hospital's employees. Father Bauer and Patrick were arrested when they allegedly refused to leave a corridor after they failed to see Sister Mary Janet, hospital administrators.

Peter Nalen, director of public relations for the hospital, was the only hospital official to testify during the first day of the trial before Police Court Justice Michael Teppedino.

In addition to his description, Nalen testified that Father

Bauer had said he would wait in the corridor to see Sister Mary Janet "if he had to camp there."

Not Necessary

Nalen said he had asked Father Bauer if he had an appointment, and the priest told him "that it was not necessary since he was a Catholic priest who wished to see a Catholic nun."

Another witness testified that she did not see any conduct out of the ordinary by either the priest or Patrick.

Later, Father Bauer told reporters that he thought the hospital's attitude toward labor union organization was "contrary to the teaching of the Pope."

Wilson Offers Data On Vote Questions

This week Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County is beginning a series of informational articles on the 12 statewide questions which will appear on this year's ballot. Wilson said it is vital that every voter receive as much information as possible concerning the twelve questions so that each issue will be thoroughly understood, and each one decided by a majority, rather than a minority of the voters.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, the first item on the ballot will be Proposition One which calls for a $200 million dollar bond issue for recreational development throughout the State. Wilson pointed out the State's voters had previously adopted bond issues for the acquisition of recreational land, and that under the program over 350,000 acres of land have already been acquired by the State for eventual park and recreational use. The Assemblyman said however, that in order to put this land to its intended use, additional funds will have to be raised, and that the only method of achieving this goal as quickly as possible would be through another bond issue.

Assemblyman Wilson said the funds required for the land acquisition bond issues are largely being repaid through park fees, and not from tax revenue, and that the proposed land development bond issue would be financed in the same manner over a 10-year period. In addition to the $200 million dollars from the bond issue, Wilson said, another $90 million dollars would be supplied by the Federal government under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 and the Rivers and Harbors Program, as well as an additional $75 million dollars from regular State funds for recreational development, and $35 million dollars from local matching funds throughout the State. It was also pointed out by the Assemblyman that the additional $90 million dollars in Federal funds could not be made available unless the bond issue is adopted.

The Ulster County Assemblyman went on to say that if the bond issue is approved this year, all of the recreational development funds would be divided into five major categories. According to Wilson, $140 million dollars would be spent to develop new State parks and recreational centers, $40 million dollars for new forest recreation areas, $100 million dollars for new municipal parks, $95 million dollars for new boat and marine facilities, and $25 million dollars for the preservation and restoration of historic sites.

Assemblyman Wilson added that among the individual projects which are being contemplated under the statewide program would be 1,000 new boat-launching and other marine items, 10,000 new campsites, 100 new picnic areas, 60 new beaches and other bathing facilities, 400 miles of stream improvement for fishing, and over 1,000 miles of new hiking and horseback riding trails.

Assemblyman Wilson also pointed out that the proposed recreational development program would have a great deal of impact in the entire Hudson Valley area, as well as in Ulster County itself. If the bond issue is approved the funds could then be provided to develop the proposed Wittenburg State Park in the northern section of the county and the Bristol Recreation Area in the Saugerties area. The State now has the land required for both of these long awaited projects, but the money to actually develop them would have to come from the bond issue. Wilson was also hopeful that funds from the new program could also be used for various historical projects in the County, such as improving the facilities of the Senate House and Museum in Kingston and the restoration of Perrine's Bridge in Rifton, Town of Rosendale.

The Assemblyman concluded by saying that since the proposed bond issue could mean so much to all of the residents of Ulster County, as well as the entire Hudson Valley area, he would certainly urge that the voters of this area give their wholehearted support to Proposition One on this year's ballot. Next week Assemblyman Wilson will discuss the first two Amendments to the State Constitution, both of which deal with the Job Development Authority Bond Issue.

Dear Abby . . .

Snoring Causes 'Wife Trouble'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a plain ordinary guy. I like golf and poker with the boys once in a while, read mystery stories, and my favorite TV shows are the shoot-em-up westerns. I tell you this just to give you an idea of what kind of person I am. My wife likes the social scene. She doesn't know any more about high class music than I do, but she gets tickets for operas, concerts, and the symphony, and I have to take her so she can show off her clothes.

Last night we went to a concert, and I fell asleep during the second half. I snored once, and she kicked me awake. I heard about it all last night and this morning. I told her to take someone who enjoys that stuff and let me stay home. She says a woman should be escorted by her husband. How can I get her to let me skip it?

PLAIN GUY

DEAR PLAIN: Sorry, no help from here. You can't reason with a woman who thinks Chopin is Chinese food but goes to the concerts to show off her clothes. Your crime was snoring, not snoozing. So go and stay awake or put a silencer on the snore.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 18, was graduated from high school with honors, and is a clean, pretty, church-going girl. She just got a good job with a large company which employs a lot of young people. The company had an outing and she wanted to go, but her father said no.

My husband is very strict, and he doesn't allow her to date. He thinks boys are all out for the worst. Maybe his mind is a little twisted, but Abby, I can't give our daughter permission to go out when her father says no.

I don't want to fight with him as he has a terrible temper. I trust my daughter and feel sorry for her. How can I make my husband understand that he is wrong?

TROUBLED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband is more than "wrong"—he is sick! Ask your doctor or clergyman to speak to him because if he doesn't change his ways and take on a healthier attitude where his daughter is concerned, she will move out of the house. And I don't blame her.

DEAR ABBY: When I extended an invitation for an 8 o'clock dinner at my home to a couple we know and like, she said, "We can't come unless we bring the children." I said, "I am sorry, but this party is for grown-ups. I'll have the children another time when we plan a cook-out." She became very angry and said, "Well, if our children are not welcome, don't count on us!" Then she slammed the telephone down on my ear.

Abby, I do not like children at grown-up parties, and hers are particularly ill-mannered at ages 4, 7 and 9. My husband thinks I was wrong for not making her children welcome. I would like your opinion.

IN THE DOGHOUSE

DEAR IN: I vote with you!

532 Will Have Lower Phone Bills In Orange County

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Orange County Telephone Co. will lower the phone bills of 532 customers in the Middletown area, beginning next Sunday, the Public Service Commission said today.

The company will, at the same time, increase the bills of 143 other subscribers by a total of about $1,600 a year. The reduction for the 532 users will total about $7,300 a year, the commission reported as it authorized the revised charges.

The changes in the rates stem from an expansion of the local-calling area to include the communities of Michigan Corners and Scotchtown.

In other actions, details of which were disclosed today, the commission also:

— Authorized the New York State Electric & Gas Corp. to construct a new natural-gas distribution system, estimated to cost about $70,000, in the Town of Erin, Chemung County.

— Approved a petition from Mid City Coaches Inc. of Yonkers for permission to raise its fares from 15 to 20 cents, effective next Monday. The company said the increase was needed to help finance pay raises granted recently to employees.

$139,800 in Refunds

In action Tuesday, the PSC reported that $139,800 would be refunded next year to six natural-gas customers of Upstate utilities.

The refunds developed in the wake of decisions by the Federal Power Commission and federal courts declaring retail gas distributors paid excessive amounts for their products in recent years and passed the overcharges onto customers.

Five utilities will return the money by giving customers credit on their bills over the next six months. The sixth, Southern Tier Gas Corp., will make cash refunds totalling $510 to customers in the Steuben County town of Bath.

The refunds began in 1962 and, by the end of last year, a total of about $47 million had been returned to New York State utilities by pipeline distributors.

The five companies which will give credits for past overcharges, and the amounts of the refunds are: New York State Electric and Gas Corp., $33,618 to clients in the Lockport, Ithaca, Oneonta, Norwich, Dansville-Nunda and Elmira districts. Niagara-Mohawk Power Corp. $81,284, to customers in an area extending from Hudson north to Lake George and from Albany west to Syracuse and Watertown.

Pavilion Natural Gas Co., $2,172, to customers in parts of Genesee, Livingston and Wyoming counties.

Producers Gas Co., $1,587, to customers in Olean, Angelica, Belmont, Friendship, and Portville. Pennsylvania Gas Co., $20,632 to users in and near Jamestown.

Master Sgt. Donald J. Stahams and his wife, Fredesvinda, both 38, all of Oil City.

They were riding in Lytle's car which, state police said, skidded through an intersection Tuesday and ran underneath a

Cites Use Of Illegal Wiretapping

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., has charged that the state police used illegal wiretaps in compiling evidence against a trooper dismissed from the force for insubordination.

Resnick said Tuesday he had evidence that action against John Donohue in 1954 was part of a conspiracy begun in reprisal for the trooper's opposition to a state police promotion system. Commenting on Resnick's charge, State Police Superintendent Arthur Cornelius Jr. said: "Congressman Resnick's statement that an illegal wiretap was placed on the home phone of former trooper Donohue is a repetition of a false charge he first made on Aug. 12."

Donohue was dismissed for insubordination after he led a protest against promotion examinations he considered unfair.

Denounces Bill

sion that would have given the interior secretary veto power over Hudson River projects involving federal agencies.

The measure authorizes New York, New Jersey and the Interior Department to draft a compact to develop and conserve scenic, recreational and other values of the river.

The compact — which also could include Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut — would have to go before Congress for final approval.

Need No U.S. Action
Javits and Gov. Rockefeller have taken the stand that no congressional action is needed to allow drafting of the compact.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., interrupted a filibuster Tuesday on civil rights to bring up the measure.

Unanimous consent was required for the vote, and objection from Javits temporarily could have prevented action.

Javits said, however, that any objection might be misunderstood as reflecting opposition to Hudson River improvement.

He termed the bill "a meaningless bill and totally unnecessary." Its only purpose, he said, "is to oblige a congressman so that he can have his name on a bill at this election time."

Would Block Con Ed
In its original form, the bill also would have blocked specifically, for at least three years, the construction of a hydroelectric plant at Cornwall on the river by the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York City.

The bill, as finally approved, exempts Con Ed even from having to consult with the Interior Department about the Storm King Mountain project.

Rockefeller also has said the bill could hamper river development by conveying the impression that it called for specific action to begin cleaning up the Hudson Valley area.

Ottiger has said the significance of the bill lies in the guidelines set down for the compact and in the enforcement provisions.

The measure directs the interior secretary to report to the President by July 1, 1968, on the drafting of the compact.

Judges to Hear Objections on NY Rail Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — A panel of three federal judges will hear the case of seven railroads seeking to block the $6 billion merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads which has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The panel, named Tuesday by Chief Judge J. Edward Lumbard of the U.S. Court of Appeals, may meet by next Wednesday.

Lumbard arranged for the case to be heard by Judge Henry J. Friendly of the Court of Appeals and District Court Judges Richard H. Levett and Edward Weinfeld.

The panel also will consider whether an injunction should be issued against carrying out the merger until the review is completed.

Lumbard named the panel after Levett announced he would permit six other railroads to enter the legal opposition to the merger, originally filed by the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

Levett agreed with the petitioning railroads that a three-judge panel should review the ICC approval of the merger, scheduled to become effective Sept. 30.

The railroads permitted to join the Erie-Lackawanna and the Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, Delaware and Hudson, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, and Boston and Maine.

All but the B&M had previously filed other court actions, and the B&M was expected to do so shortly.

The Erie-Lackawanna suit charged that the ICC approved the merger on the basis of "false representations" by the lines planning to merge, and that a merger would have "substantial impact" on other railroads.

Delays Decision Of Rickard Words

County Judge Raymond J. Mino today at regular special term reserved decision on the question of whether an oral statement made by Raymond G. Rickard Jr., charged with first degree murder, should be admitted in evidence on trial of the case.

Rickard, charged with the death of 2½ year old Victor Rosillo at a Lake Katrine trailer camp in November 1964, was returned from India where he had gone as a merchant seaman aboard a vessel. When the case was moved for trial recently the prosecution gave notice that it was the intention of the District Attorney's office to offer on trial an oral statement made after indictment.

This morning before County Judge Mino, counsel for Rickard, Francis Martocci and Joseph Saccoman, moved to preclude offering the statement on the grounds that any statement made by a defendant after indictment was automatically inadmissible under the law inadmissible in evidence on trial.

Opposing the motion was Assistant District Attorney Robert MacKinnon, who contended that the law did not automatically preclude its admission on trial.

Judge Mino reserved decision and gave counsel an opportunity to submit memorandum of law.

The Rickard case is second on the September criminal trial calendar.

length of the recesses to caucus on resolutions "this is being discourteous to the citizens attending."

It is Majestic's contention that the members should hold caucuses prior to opening of the monthly session to discuss resolutions and not keep citizens waiting for long periods while the board is in recess discussing resolutions which will come before the board to vote that evening.

All resolutions coming before the board for vote at a regular session must be filed prior to the meeting to give time for study of the text.

Warwick Pilot Leads Attack on Cong

SAIGON (AP) — Six U.S. Air Force B57 Canberra led by Capt. Joseph Krasnewicz, of Warwick, N.Y., struck Viet Cong ammunition storage areas and fortified positions Tuesday 15 miles southeast of Da Nang.

The Canberra pilots reported damaging or destroying 113 huts and other structures in two target areas and touching off two secondary explosions.

5 Persons Hurt In Dutchess Crash

Five persons were injured, one seriously, shortly before 7:30 a.m. today as the result of a two-car collision on Route 55 near Titusville Road, Town of LaGrange. Ambulances from the Arlington and LaGrangeville fire companies were dispatched to remove the injured to hospitals.

The Dutchess County sheriff's office said the cars were driven by Marion Greene, 56, of Old Freedom Plains Road, LaGrangeville, and Irving Thompson, 45, of Hyde Park. The Greene car was traveling west and Thompson was driving east when a car ahead of the Greene vehicle slowed to make a turn into Titusville Road. The operator of the Greene car applied the brakes and the vehicle skidded into the eastbound lane where the crash occurred.

Marion Greene sustained lacerations of the right knee and chest injuries and was removed to Vassar Hospital. Passengers in Thompson's car and their injuries were: Cecelia Harvey, 48, of Cortes Avenue, Poughkeepsie, fractured skull, fractures of both legs, lacerations of the left arm and head; Susan Lynch, 58, of Violet Avenue, lacerations over the left eye and right shoulder and chest injuries; Edward Bradley, 52, Franklin Avenue, Hyde Park, lacerations of the legs. Thompson was treated at St. Francis hospital for mouth lacerations.

Deputy Sheriff John Farmer and John Bilski investigated. They reported it was raining at the time of the accident and the roads were slippery.

Astronauts Zoom
mand pilot, told him: "See those kids on the roof?" "They'd better not be there," Gordon quipped. His six children have the habit of climbing around the roof of the Gordon home in Houston.

Because the weather was so clear over the southern United States, Gordon took time to snap pictures of Houston and Cape Kennedy.

The ground offered to give Conrad directions for pointing the spacecraft at the stars. But he declined, saying:

"Thanks a lot, though. You guys are all right—doing a good job for government work."

Because he only had to stand there, the workload was much less than that which overtaxed Gordon during his space walk Tuesday. Within minutes Tuesday he was breathing and perspiring heavily. His right eye became blinded with sweat and he had to hurry back to the safety of the cabin.

During the stand-up exercise, Gordon was tethered to the inside of the cabin by four lines, three of them for oxygen, communications and biomedical instrumentation. The fourth was a restraint tether, shorter than the other to prevent the three key lines from breaking.

Gordon aimed an ultraviolet camera, mounted on the side of the craft, at selected stars. "We're on top of the world," Conrad reported as they reached the peak of the roller-coaster orbital path.

"Just out of my left window, I can see all the way around to the very end, with the horizon all around," he said.

The record-breaking journey started with a massive jolt of power from the Agena at 3:12 a.m. EDT.

"It's going!" Conrad said. "It's really going!"

"Have a good ride," the ground controller told him. After the first kick of speed the Agena gave Gemini 11 a record as the slowest-orbiting spacecraft. It fell from the usual 17,500 miles an hour to 15,402 before reaching the peak of its outward trip.

Then Gemini started downhill. It raced faster and faster until it was going at 17,884 miles an hour, faster than man has ever gone before.

The ground controller, asking for instrument readings on radiation as the crew zipped through a fringe of the Van Allen belt, said:

"Sounds like it's safer up there than a chest X-ray."

"Affirmative," answered Conrad.

of juries also have been under some fire.

Dirksen's mood was such on the eve of the key vote that he even broke into a few base notes of song as he sat on a table in the Senate press gallery, sipping coffee and giving a virtuoso performance of a patented Dirksen news conference.

President Johnson has conceded the bill is in serious trouble if Dirksen stands pat. "I am hopeful we can find some way to get his support," Johnson said.

Candidate Says Rockefeller River Wetlands Untaxed

NORTH TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — A political candidate sought without success Tuesday night to read to the Mount Pleasant Town Board a complaint saying that members of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's family are among several owners of Hudson River underwater land that has not been assessed for town taxes for more than 100 years.

William Rodgers of Briarcliff Manor, a Liberal party candidate for the State Assembly from Westchester County, then handed to the board his nine-page complaint.

Refused Permission
Although the board refused to let Rodgers read his mimeographed "Citizens' Memorandum" about the Rockefeller's, other individuals and the town, the board promised it would look into the matter.

The family estate of the Republican governor, who is running for a third term, is located in North Tarrytown, part of the town of Mount Pleasant.

Mount Pleasant Supervisor Michael L. Rovello, who presided at the town board meeting, told Rodgers that his complaint "has political connotations."

Rovello suggested to Rodgers that the proper place to lodge his complaint would be a court of law. Rovello and the four other members of the board are Republicans.

Several residents of the town, who were at the meeting to hear a reading of the complaint which had been publicized in advance, objected to Rovello's ruling against oral presentation of what Rodgers called "a citizen's memorandum" to the board.

Is Assessable
Rodgers contends that underwater land, running about four miles along the Hudson shoreline and about 700 feet wide, is assessable but no taxes have been paid on it.

Rodgers, the author of a recent book, "Rockefeller's Follies — An Unauthorized View of Nelson Rockefeller," says the governor's family owns a little less than a mile of the land.

The underwater land cannot be considered valueless, Rodgers contends, because some business buildings in North Tarrytown are located on land that once was under water. He says state law "mandates" that the land be assessed for taxation purposes.

Rodgers says the Rockefeller family's underwater land "has taken on greatly increased value to its owner" because of the proposed location of the Hudson River expressway along the river.

Rodgers says in his complaint that his Republican opponent, Assemblyman Richard A. Cersosky, of Valhalla, a real estate man, did not levy assessments on the underwater land when he was town assessor in 1963.

No representative of any member of the Rockefeller family or of Cersosky spoke at the town board meeting.

Mt. Marion Resident Is TV Game Winner
Freeman correspondent, Miss Sara Osterhoudt of Mt. Marion, was the winner of a trip to the Virgin Islands on today's Concentration the television game aired by NBC 10:30 to 11 p.m.

Miss Osterhoudt who resides with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt, entered an August promotion on the program by sending in 30 cards, 15 for herself and 15 for Mrs. Osterhoudt.

Last week she received a letter requesting a signed release from the network so she knew something was in the offing.

This morning her winning card was selected by guest star Stephanie Powers. The Girl from U.N.C.L.E. Hugh Downs is master of ceremonies on the show.

Miss Osterhoudt noted that they had a great deal of trouble pronouncing her name but under the circumstances she didn't mind a bit.

The game required listeners to send in numbered postcards during the month of August. Then 30 cards were selected. Each program, a card is chosen from the winning 30 and the sender is awarded the prize corresponding to the number on the card.

Miss Osterhoudt said she had numbered her cards consecutively and was so excited that she did not hear what her winning number was.

When asked if she planned to take the trip to the Virgin Islands, she said she thought it would be impossible for she and her sister-in-law to take advantage of the trip as Mrs. Osterhoudt has been ill recently.

Edward W. DeCicco, 17, of 189 Tremper Avenue, booked on charges after a reported speed of 65 miles an hour, was fined $30 in City Court today. He was charged with speeding, for which he was fined $25, driving with no plate light for which he paid $5, and driving without a license, which was dismissed. The charges were lodged by Detectives Albert Hutton and Floyd Krom.

Loading Unit Damaged
A fire believed due to a short circuit damaged a motorized loading unit owned by the Hurley Sand & Gravel Co. Inc. while it was on Tremper Avenue near Ardsley Street this morning. A unit from Central Station answered a call at 3:30 a.m. with Capt. Harry Sills in charge. The blaze had been partially checked before firemen arrived to douse it with pressurized water. It damaged the seat, its frame and the battery.

Injured in Crash

While driving his car north on Ulster Landing Road about three miles north of Route 32, Town of Ulster, at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, Anthony Whitehead, 47, of Catskill, lost control and the vehicle crashed head-on into a tree. Whitehead was taken by Doctor's Ambulance to Kingston Hospital, suffering a broken right femur and injuries to the chest, head and arms, according to Trooper Fred Cooper of the Kingston substation. Trooper Richard Dempsey reported Whitehead was rounding a curve when he lost control and the car went off the right side of the road and hit the tree. At the hospital, Whitehead's condition was listed as satisfactory.

Santamaria said that at the Isle of Pines prison, "thousands of prisoners, 85 per cent of them ill of tuberculosis, cancer, starvation, many driven to insanity, live in indescribable conditions of horror."

He appeared before a Senate Government Operations subcommittee investigating communism in the Caribbean.

Disputes Relation Of Low Fat Diet To Heart Disease

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An Albany Medical College scientist says health agencies should not advise that a low fat diet or one that substitutes unsaturated fats for saturated fats will help prevent coronary disease.

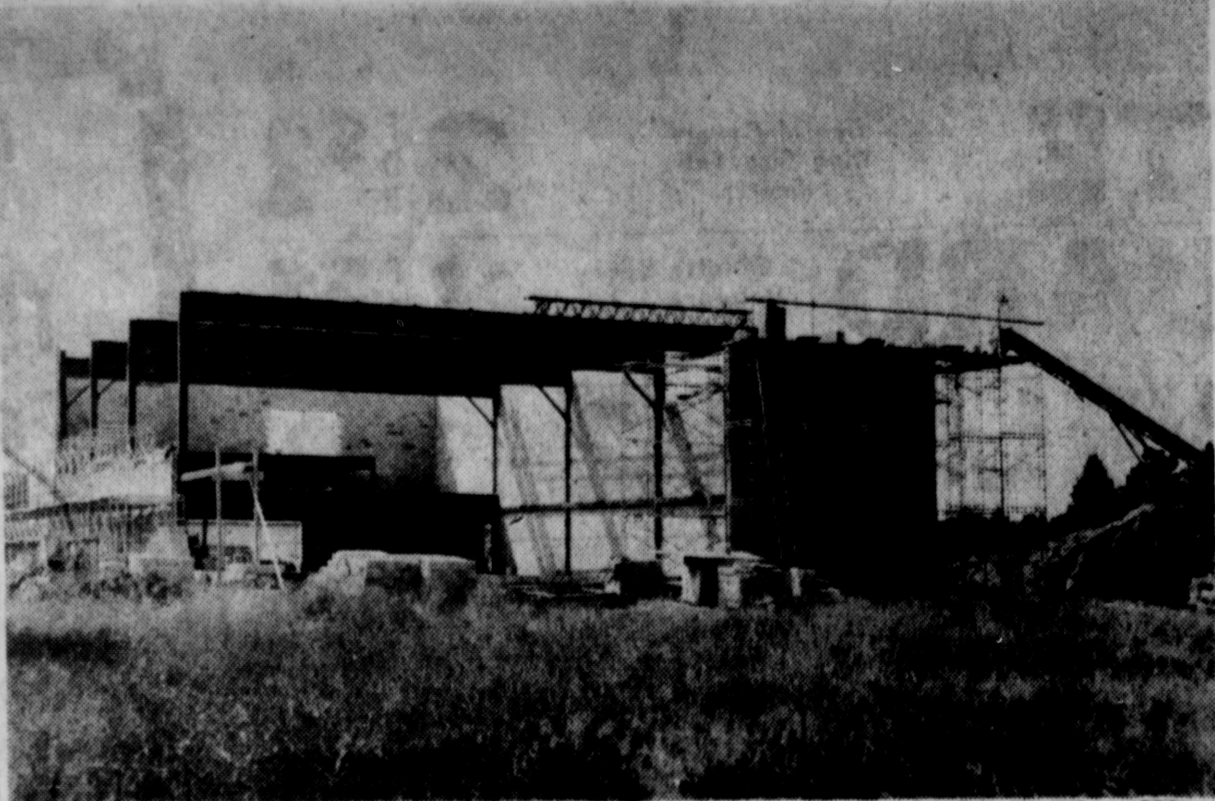

Dr. David F. Brown, associate director of the State Health Department's Cardiovascular Health Center at the college, says low fat diets may help in some cases, but there are others in which decreasing the diet's carbohydrates, not its fats, reduce blood-fat levels.

Also, Brown said, recent research suggests that the method by which unsaturated - fat diets lower blood cholesterol may be undesirable.

Since a high cholesterol level may result from a variety of causes, no single method of correction exists, the scientist said.

Although high cholesterol levels have been linked to frequency of coronary heart disease, he noted, cholesterol is only one of several fat-and-protein blood combinations. For one such combination, the level can be reduced by lowering intake of dietary carbohydrates and not fats.

In addition, he said, recent studies have shown that, although unsaturated fats can lower blood levels of cholesterol alone, the cholesterol apparently remains elsewhere in the body.

Lt. Col. Hedman, Reserve Officer, Retires Saturday

Lt. Col. Carl E. Hedman, former commanding officer of the 854th Engineer Battalion with headquarters in Kingston was honored Saturday during a ceremony at the Reserve Armory on Flatbush Avenue on the anniversary of his 28th year of satisfactory service and retirement from the Active Reserve.

Colonel William C. Mulligan, commanding officer of the 411th Engineer Brigade presented the citation to Lt. Col. Hedman at a parade formation on behalf of the II US Army Corps Commander, Maj. General T. R. Yancey. Col. Mulligan also spoke to the officers and men outlining Lt. Col. Hedman's accomplishments, devotion to duty and professional ability.

Lt. Col. Hedman was born Jan. 16, 1916 in Drayton, N. D., and graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1938. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Organized Reserve Corps on June 1, 1938, and entered on active duty April 10, 1942. During World War II, he saw duty in the Panama Canal Zone and in the European Theater of Operations, serving in the Rhineland and Central Europe campaigns. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal and also received the American Campaign Medal, the European-African-Middle Eastern Campaign Medal with two battle stars, the Army of Occupation Medal, and the World War II Victory Medal. Lt. Col. Hedman was separated from active duty on Oct. 8, 1946, having attained the grade of major. He became active in the reserve program in 1948 and joined the 854th Engineers in 1951. In July 1952 he became battalion commander, and served in this capacity until his retirement on June 30, 1966.

During the same ceremony, Lt. Charles M. Young of 101 Colburn Drive in Poughkeepsie, commanding officer of Headquarters Company, was promoted to the grade of captain. Capt. Young was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the artillery on Feb. 1, 1957 and served on active duty at Fort Sill, Okla., prior to becoming transferred to the Active Reserve.

There are 128 cubic feet in one cord of wood or stone.

HONORED ON RETIREMENT — Lt. Col. Carl E. Hedman, center, receives a certificate marking his retirement after 28 years of satisfactory service in the Active Army Reserve, from Col. William C. Mulligan, commanding of-

Tax Questions, Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Are Revenue agents evaluated on the basis of their "production"—the amount of tax increase—resulting from audits?

A — IRS agents are professional employees and evaluated by professional standards. No records by case count or dollar assessed are available to agents' supervisors.

The purpose of an audit is to insure that the correct tax has been paid. The government wants no more than it is entitled to and certainly no less. Each year, audits result in refunds unexpected by taxpayers as well as assessments for additional taxes. Whether a Revenue agent recommends a refund or an assessment is immaterial to his professional progress in the Revenue Service.

Asks About Expenses

Q — I've just been assigned by my boss to a job some 100 miles from here. As it will last for several weeks, I'm going to commute or at least come home on weekends. Will my rent and board while away from home be deductible?

A — If you work at this job for a short period, then your living expenses while away from home may be deductible. However, if the end of the job can't be fixed within a short period or is for an indefinite period, then the job location becomes your home for tax purposes and living expenses will not be deductible.

Whether your expenses for rent and board are deductible or not depends on whether the job is temporary or is for an indefinite period. The rules for deducting board, lodging, and other travel expenses including weekends at "home" are explained in detail in IRS Publication No. 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses," which may be obtained by writing to your IRS District Office.

Q — My employees have been reporting their tips to me every month. Can I withhold for the tips on a weekly basis or do I have to do it monthly?

A — As long as the proper amount is withheld, you may withhold on the regular payroll period basis—weekly if you regularly have a weekly pay period.

Q — Our son is helping out in our store after school. A neighbor told me we would have to withhold taxes from any money we pay him. Is that right?

A — In the situation you describe of a minor child working for a parent, reasonable wages may be paid to the child. The wages are a deductible business expense for the parent and taxable income for the child. In this situation, the child's wages are subject to withholding for income taxes but not for social security taxes.

Q — Are self-employment tax returns required for someone over 65?

A — Yes, they are when net income from self-employment is $400 or more for the year. This requirement applies regardless of age. Note, however, that the $400 income figure is a net figure rather than a gross figure. Income from self-employment should be reduced by whatever applicable expenses were incurred to earn it.

If a taxpayer receives $500 for hooked rugs but he spent $125 for material then the net income from self-employment would be $375 and no self-employment schedule would be required.

Why We Say--

FROM WHITE: This word can be traced to Thomas Blanket who set up a loom in Bristol, England in 1340 to manufacture the sleeping device. The surname Blanket, incidentally, was derived from the French word "blanc" for white.

One heartening thing about our young folks is that some day they'll grow out of their teens.

Good neighbors are folks who never buy a car fancier than yours.

A fool and his money are soon parted.

Gosh, what a guilt complex we'd all get if we didn't have the Communists to blame our troubles on.

It's add, but you seldom encounter an old know-it-all.

Install Broome Man President of Real Estate Unit

GEORGE K. MOYER

An Endwell realtor, George K. Moyer, was installed today at Kiamasha Lake as the 58th president of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards, Inc., during the closing luncheon of the group's 62nd annual convention.

Moyer, who operates a firm bearing his name in Binghamton, received his oath of office from Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo.

Moyer has been actively engaged in the real estate business for the past 19 years and has served as vice president and secretary of the association. He is a three time president of the Broome County Board of Realtors, past president of the Vestal Chamber of Commerce. He is the son of Mrs. Victor Henriksen of Oneida.

Installed with Moyer were the other officers of the association: Edward Grimpel, Long Island; William G. Scott, Westchester County; as vice presidents; Robert H. Loeftel, Brooklyn; treasurer and secretary, Robert M. Stefk, Niagara Falls.

In his remarks to the over 800 guests in attendance, Moyer called for defeat of two issues on the November ballot. He noted that one of the issues on the ballot, this coming November in statewide elections, is an amendment to the Constitution which would permit local communities to increase their debt limit for low income public housing from 2 per cent of assessed valuation to 2 per cent of full valuation.

The very fact, Moyer said, that this issue appears on the ballot should be a personal affront to a great majority of New York State voters. Only two years ago, in the 1964 general election, an amendment to the Constitution permitting this same move on the part of local governments was defeated by a margin exceeding 3 to 1.

Mrs. Byron Is Named for Bench By Conservatives

Rosemary Fallon Bryon was nominated for the office of Justice of the Supreme Court by Conservatives at their 3rd Judicial District Convention held Sept. 9 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, according to Harry S. Hoffman Jr., permanent chairman of the convention.

Residing in Athens, Mrs. Bryon has practiced law for the past 20 years; the first three in New York City and the past 17 in Greene County where she maintains her office in Catskill. Mrs. Bryon has been one of the leaders in the local fight against centralization of schools and has consistently worked against overreaching by law enforcement officers in the use of force, or the threat of force, in securing confessions. She has stood firmly in support of the rights of the individual.

In 1949 Mrs. Bryon ran for the office of Greene County District Attorney on the Democratic ticket. She had to decline a subsequent nomination because of family illness.

Born in Brooklyn, Mrs. Bryon is the daughter of the late Counselor John C. Fallon and Ruth Conforti Fallon. She married Robert D. Bryon in 1947, and is the mother of two daughters: Wendy, a student at Bard College, Dutchess County, and Margo, a student in the Cox-sackie-Athens Central School. Mrs. Bryon graduated from the Catskill High School, attended Cornell University, and graduated from St. John's Law School. She was admitted to practice in 1946.

Mrs. Bryon is a member of the New York Bar Association, the Greene County Bar Association, the Ontario Chapter of the DAR, Rebekah, Business and Professional Women's Club and the Methodist Church.

Verifab Declares Retirement Plan For All Employees

Verifab, Inc., local component parts manufacturer at High Falls recently announced an employee benefit program.

Gunther W. Newman, president, said the plan arranged with Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company — has had an enthusiastic response from employees at the plant and, consequently, pleased management too.

The Salary Allotment Retirement Plan goes into effect Nov. 1, 1966 and has the following main features: For every $1 the employee contributes out of his pay, the company contributes $1.25. Depending on age of employee, and length of time at Verifab, Newman explained, employees at age of 65 could have a benefit in profits amounting to as much as $10,000.

The plan, of course, is voluntary with the employee having a complete choice in the matter. "Joining, or not joining," Newman said, "has no bearing on additional growth and benefits the company offers all its employees as the firm develops and grows more favorably."

"I am truly pleased," Newman concluded, "that management and the Board of Directors have come up with the plan for the mutual benefit of all. It is just another indication that Verifab, Inc., every day and in every way is getting better and better."

Shall the Doors Remain Open Is High Woods Poser

The inexorable sweep of progress which has seen the horse and buggy replaced by the automobile and the jet plane, which has almost totally eliminated the little red schoolhouse in favor of large centralized and consolidated districts, and which has brought formerly untapped recreational pursuits for lengthened leisure time — now threatens to close the doors of a once proud local church.

With progress has come another modern phenomenon, public apathy towards community and church. And for at least one historic church, nestled in the foothills of the Catskills in High Woods, a dark cloud obscures its future.

Storm clouds rather than clouds of human despair hung over the church recently on the day before Labor Day, the day long set aside for the annual church fair there — a fair that has become legendary over the years. Today, many faithful members of the congregation feel the clouds that recent Sunday may have been more than passingly significant to the very life of the church itself.

Was It the Last? Although the clouds which might have brought rain passed before Labor Day, a day which dawned clear and beautiful and assured the success of the fair, there is ample reason to believe that the 1966 fair might well have been the last edition of the event.

Unless drastic action is taken, the High Woods Reformed Church may shortly have to close its doors and consolidate with neighboring churches in the larger communities of Kingston, Saugerties and Woodstock. If this happens, the sun that graced the recent Labor Day Fair may have glimmered for the last time over this traditional event.

Members who have tried to keep the church an active community center feel they are faced with one of today's chronic problems — public apathy towards the church everywhere today.

Interest Lacking

Although the High Woods Reformed Church is financially solvent at the present time, it lacks interested people who want to see it grow as an integral part of their lives and the life of the community. Those who are working for the survival of this particular church feel the pressures of life today and the frantic pace of work and play keeps most people away from interest in their church and has created a specific problem for the High Woods church.

Hoping to avoid the death knell, the Consistory of the church has called a meeting for all active and inactive members of the church this Thursday at 7 p. m. At this all-important congregational meeting, the major question of whether the church shall close its doors or remain open will be discussed.

Hopefully, many will attend and produce suggestions for positive ways to increase active church membership. If enough are interested, a way may be found to fill the positions of supervisor of the Sunday school and several Sunday school teachers.

If the apathy cannot be overcome, if membership cannot be increased and if badly needed leaders cannot be found, consolidation with neighboring churches will be the only alternative and another local landmark will pass from the scene.

DAR to Observe Constitution Week

As one of its many projects, Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution is asking patriotic citizens everywhere to join in the observance of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23. Sally R. Brinnier, publicity chairman, says this is the 179th anniversary of the adoption of the U. S. Constitution and special attention should be given to the Constitution's sound provisions, high principles and unsurpassed ideals.

She said the Constitution is not merely a Bill of Rights; it is a Bill of Obligation, a covenant binding citizens, as well as the government, to its support. Protect it so that it may continue to protect us, she urged.

Saugerties Chapter DAR stresses the importance of this Constitution Week where the community should strive to give thoughtful consideration to the events that led to the framing of the Constitution. It is a time when all American citizens should read and re-read the Constitution and emphasize the study of the Constitution in homes, schools, churches, civic groups and community centers, DAR members suggest.

The Saugerties Chapter suggests that this week especially affords opportunity for schools and churches to hold appropriate ceremonies to inspire all citizens to keep the faith of our Founding Fathers. This is a religious nation and we are religious people, they say, running through all American history are the golden threads of religious conviction, they note, and the country will survive as long as she remains loyal to her spiritual heritage. The Saugerties Chapter asks citizens to hold fast to their heritage and to give thanks during Constitution Week.

Barnes & Mayone Deny Any Request Made for Patrols

Kenneth Barnes and Joseph Mayone, proprietors of the Checkers Discotheque, teenage nightclub in the heart of Saugerties village, have taken umbrage at published reports that they requested on-duty village patrolmen to make periodic checks of the establishment as a deterrent to would-be trouble makers.

Speaking for himself and his partner, Barnes said most emphatically that they did not make any request of this type of the village board or ask anything at all of the board.

His statement followed newspaper coverage of the recent Village Board meeting from which official minutes were released showing that trustees had discussed the supposed request. According to the public records, Trustee Gregory A. Mulstuy, at the board meeting, said he had a request from the proprietors of the Checkers that on-duty policemen be allowed to periodically enter the building and walk around as a deterrent to would-be trouble makers. In the discussion which followed, the board went on record as feeling this would not be good practice since it would create a problem where none previously existed.

Barnes adamantly denied that he and Mayone had spearheaded or suggested such a request. "We know they wouldn't give us anything anyway, so why should we even ask," said Barnes. "We ask nothing of this village and, if Gregory Mulstuy, who drops into the discotheque often, wanted to ask in his own name, speaking for himself and giving his own opinion, we have nothing to do with that."

The Checkers proprietor noted that the matter had been discussed casually and unofficially in private conversation with Mulstuy, but that he and Mayone had certainly not pushed the matter in the form of a request.

"Actually," he said, "Mulstuy even asked that we put it in writing, but we said we would not because we feel strongly about making any request of the Village Board." If the request had been made, he said, it was made by Mulstuy personally and not by the Checkers management. We told Mulstuy, he said, "that if he wanted to make such a request, he could, but we would not make any such request ourselves."

Barnes also had a few pertinent words to say about a report in a local weekly newspaper that a recent inspection of the discotheque premises by the State Department of Public Safety had set the maximum capacity at 502 persons. "There is no such agency as the State Department of Public Safety," he said. "It is the State Department of Labor which sets seating capacity and they have not as yet released any report whatsoever governing our club."

Splinter Parties Show Wide Disparity

Voters Will Find GOP, Demo State Platforms Are Similar in Content

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—If New York voters had to base their judgments solely on the state campaign platforms, they would be hard put to choose between the Republican and Democratic parties in the forthcoming election.

A comparison of the platforms adopted at the GOP and Democratic conventions last week shows the two major political parties in substantial agreement in major policy areas. There are relatively few conflicts and no head-on clashes of significance.

Wide Disparity
As might be expected, however, there is a wide disparity in viewpoint between the platforms of the two splinter parties—the Liberals, who lean to the left of the Democrats, and the Conservatives, who range well to the right of the GOP.

The one issue on which all four parties agree — apart from the perennial pledge of greater efficiency in government — is reform of the electoral process. Each party adopted a plank calling for a direct primary system for nominating candidates for governor and other state-wide offices. If carried through, this could mean that the state convention soon will be a thing of the past.

By advocating a direct — primary system, the GOP was trying to catch up with the Democrats, who have championed this approach — without success — for several years.

Stole Thunder
At the same time, the Republicans stole a bit of Democratic thunder by promising to work toward lowering the voting age in this state from 21 to 18. This has been a pet idea of the Democrats — but, oddly enough, they forgot to include it in their platform.

The Liberals and Conservatives made no mention of the issue. In other areas, there was general agreement on the need for repeal of the Condon - Wadlin Law and replacement of it with a more effective statute to discourage strikes by public employees. All but the Conservatives adopted such a plank.

There also were only minor variations between the Republican and Democratic viewpoints on education programs.

Both Pledge Aid
Both parties pledged to keep pumping state aid into the public school system, with the Democrats promising a review of the current formulas with a view toward increases.

Both pledged maximum efforts to provide opportunities for higher education to the state's youth. Democrats said more state aid should be given to the City University of New York and to community colleges across the state.

By contrast, the Liberals called for a "massive increase" in aid to the public schools, while the Conservatives demanded a "sharp cutback in massive expenditures made in the name of education."

The Liberals and Conservatives found agreement, however, in the view that no state money should be channeled into private schools — "direct or indirect," the Liberals said.

Avoid Issue
This plank reflected a church-state controversy over the state's new program of providing free textbooks to pupils in parochial and other private schools. The Democratic and Republican platforms avoided this issue.

Democrats went somewhat beyond the GOP in the field of public welfare. Republicans promised to "preserve the state's concern for those in genuine need" while making certain that benefits went only to qualified persons. The Democrats promised to revise the public assistance plan to provide "a minimum level of assistance" for the needy — but they were not specific. They did add, however, a charge that the present system has been "wasteful and degrading" to welfare recipients.

Indirect Mention
In the public-health field, the GOP made only indirect mention of the new medical-aid program, which has been widely criticized as being potentially too costly. Its platform promised "to advance the state's comprehensive programs of health services and basic research."

The Democrats said they would "maintain a continuing watch over the quality, cost, fee burden of the Medicaid program, and administrative burden of the Medicaid program."

The Liberals declared that they "vigorously support" the medical-aid program, while the Conservatives demanded its repeal.

In other areas, the Democrats and GOP found themselves agreeing on the importance of building more and better roads, taking steps to protect the consumer and improve care of the mentally ill and preparing for the 1967 Constitutional Convention.

Stresses Poverty
Both the Democrats and Liberals contended, that there had not been enough state participation in President Johnson's "war on poverty" program. Both promised to channel more state money into the federal-state effort.

Surprisingly, none of the parties commented on what surely will be a major topic of interest to the voters this fall — a proposed state constitutional amendment that would authorize a state-conducted lottery.

Otherwise, there are some of the views expressed on usually controversial subjects.

TAXES
GOP — The federal tax structure should be re-evaluated with a view toward returning more money to the state.

Dem — Little mention, except a proposal to cooperate with neighboring states in developing a "regional pattern of corporate taxation" to reduce competition among the states.

Lib — The state's tax and fiscal structure needs a "thorough overhaul"...the party remains "unilaterally opposed to the regressive sales tax."

Con — The sales tax and the

New York City income tax and the city's levy on commuters all should be repealed.

ETHICS
Dem and Lib — The code of ethics for public officials should be strengthened.

GOP and Con — No mention.

DRUGS AND LIQUOR
Dem — Drug-addiction should be treated as an illness.

GOP — Alcoholism should be treated as an illness. The GOP also pledged to pursue Gov. Rockefeller's "all-out" effort to curb drug-addiction.

Lib — The party opposes a provision of the new, Rockefeller-sponsored law that provides for compulsory commitment of addicts.

Con — No mention.

INTEGRATION
GOP — Beyond advocating equal opportunity for all, the GOP platform pledges "to recognize the evils of the ghetto as a blight on the escutcheon of Democracy" and to combat the problem.

Dem — The party proposed to "lead a coalition of business, labor and government to replace our ghettos with neighborhoods and communities" and to train unskilled workers so that they can get better jobs.

Lib — "Existing laws against discrimination should be strengthened and vigorously enforced through a greatly expanded Commission on Human Rights."

Con — A law should be enacted guaranteeing the right of every child to attend the school in his neighborhood. The Metcalf-Baker Law barring discrimination in sale or rental of private property should be repealed.

In 1943, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that American and Australian forces had captured the air-naval base of Salamaua, New Guinea.

Ten years ago — Egypt took over full operation of the Suez Canal after more than 90 foreign pilots and some 400 other non-Egyptian employees quit their posts on the waterway.

Five years ago — The Western Big Four foreign ministers met in Washington to discuss the Berlin crisis.

One year ago — Pope Paul VI told the opening of the fourth and final session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council that he plans to establish a synod of Catholic bishops who would consult with him in the governing of the church.

Guajiro Indians

Primitive Guajiro Indians live less than 100 miles from Venezuela's modern oil port of Maracaibo. They are nomads who wander over sandy shrub, hunting with bow and arrow, and seeking water and forage. They subsist primarily on goat, pig and sheep, with small game, wild seeds and the pulp and fruit of thorny plants supplementing their diet.

Gen. Custer was not scalped by the Indians who massacred his men, nor were any of the bodies of the massacred soldiers mutilated.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—When an executive quits a top job in his mid-50s, his health good and his future plans indefinite, his action generates rumors that imply the real reason for his departure lies buried.

George Keith Funston generated those rumors this week. Funston, 55 years old, 6 feet 3, and in good health despite gray hair, made plans to quit as president of the New York Stock Exchange, giving as his reason: "The demanding nature of the presidency precludes me from pursuing many other interests which I should like to enjoy more fully in the future."

Among these interests are gardening, travel, education and church work, and corporate directorships.

So, in the privacy of his mint-green office, where the ticking of a small clock made a quiet contrast to the boisterous trading floor below, Funston was asked the real reason.

"The possibility of a new contract not being extended to me was never a consideration in my plans to leave," he replied. "I knew it would be offered to me. I never was more in the saddle than now. The board was 100 per cent behind me."

Funston said he liked the job. "It's a whole of a good job," he said. "It's no burden."

And so why did he announce plans to leave the job on or before expiration of his present contract in September 1967?

"I've got so many other things to do. This is a night and day job, and I tend to get myself wrapped up in everything I do anyway. I think I deserve a rest."

"From the time I come in until I go home I'm with somebody. There's a lot of balls in the air all the time. Yes, I'm more tired now when I go home at night than I used to be. But now the control will be in me."

As president of the exchange, Funston is its voice, and though it has been a loud voice in bringing a bit of democracy into what has been called a private club, he has received criticism from many directions—fair and unfair—a natural hazard of the job.

This he discounted as a motivation. "I've found that those who are against you today will be with you tomorrow," he said. He restated his goal of doing now the things he always wanted to do.

Funston feels he had done a good job. Among other things he put the exchange on a sound financial footing. It had been losing money regularly. His biggest contribution, associates feel, was in broadening shareholders from 6.5 million when he took over to 21 million now.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Being a grandmother with quite a few young grandchildren, I receive many pictures of them.

What to do with those pictures besides stashing them away in a drawer or album?

When my husband painted my bedroom, I had him paint a peg board (48"x24") and the same color as the walls.

I put a 5" nylon net ruffle all around it to form a pretty frame. (I used white.)

Then I arranged the nicest and latest pictures of each grandchild on the board, attaching them with thumb tacks.

Now as I make the bed, I can enjoy each picture.

Not only that, I can replace them with new pictures as the children grow up, and no one will get their feelings hurt as grandma has room for them all!

Mrs. Carl Mumford

Dear Heloise:

I make placemats and matching napkins from the good parts of old tablecloths before discarding them.

Penny Pincher

Dear Heloise:

I enjoy your column so much, and want to pass along the idea of stapling that belt buckle on it if it comes off the belt.

Much quicker than struggling to sew it back on.

G. S. B.

Dear Heloise:

For the busy mother who has to pack school lunches:

If you have a pre-schooler or two still at home, prepare their lunches at the same time as the school children's.

I even put them in lunch bags with their names on them, then put the bags in the refrigerator.

When lunch time rolls around, you're all set. There is no dirtying up the kitchen again, and the little ones love it.

It makes them feel as important as brother or sister in school—and mother doesn't have to stop whatever she is doing to fix their lunches.

Joan

Why don't you go one step further, Joan, and fix a lunch for YOURSELF at the same time? After all, busy mommies have to eat, too!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint for mothers of children who play with teen dolls.

Save the tops of toothpaste and cocoa containers. They make darling tiny glasses and plates for the dolls.

Suzanne Yankowski

Dear Heloise:

If you are going on a trip and in a hurry to leave, I have a timesaver I'd like to share with your readers:

Use paper plates, coffee cups and napkins for that last meal. This enables you to do a quick operation in the kitchen and speed up your departure.

Anne Coffey

Dear Heloise:

This is a quick, wonderful way to clean up after a sick child. Keep a small sack of kitty litter in the house.

If the child throws up before reaching the bathroom, cover the spot with the kitty litter.... all will be absorbed immediately and NO ODOR.

Tier Man Dies in Viet

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Marine Pfc. William Gillette, 20, of Binghamton, is dead in South Viet Nam as the result of fragmentation wounds suffered in combat.

A family spokesman said Monday that Gillette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gillette, were told by the Defense Department that the young Marine died last Friday.

Gillette enlisted in the Marines in February 1965, a few days after he was graduated from North High School here, and was sent to the Southeast Asian nation a year later.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I received a little note decorated with flowers from Mrs. Harold Winchell of Kripplush. She is on the Kripplush Museum Committee and writes that they plan to keep the museum open Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p. m. through September. It is a school museum, and besides the items they have collected they are often loaned other items to make the museum more interesting. I plan to visit it one weekend and tell the readers about it in detail. I am sure it would be of interest to retired school teachers, and those who are teaching now, and groups of students.

I just read in the Daily News of New York that they are going back to ungraded classes in the most modern school of New York. That was the old system of the one school room in the country. Every student can go along on his own ability and also learn and be helped by better or older students. The older students also feel that they are a part of the teaching system not just a child in school run by adults.

When progress runs out of ideas it goes back to old ideas, logic and styles which were workable, as perhaps now the ungraded classes. I have a book on hygiene written by Dr. Calvin Cutter in 1852 with some 83 engravings. He wrote for colleges, academies and home study. For instance he writes that "The clothing should be of porous character, and fitted loosely, so the garment retains a layer of air between it and the body. Every one is aware that a loose dress is much warmer than one which fits closely." That is now being used in the latest undergarments by those who work and play and travel in cold climates. The loose, porous underwear on all counters is not new, but according to this book not even new in 1852.

This 1852 book, according to Dr. Cutter says that light from outdoors is necessary for the well being of a person, in schoolhouses, mechanics' shops, kitchens, and sitting rooms. They should receive light from outdoors. I notice that many of the school buildings now built in New York City have no windows. Speaking of fresh air, they mention that "let a person remain, for a time, in a crowded, ill-ventilated hall or room and one begins to feel ill, because of the action of impure blood upon the brain."

"We should not enter upon continued mental exertion, or arouse deep feeling, or get excited after a full meal. Such a connection between the function of the mind and body, even in perfectly healthy persons, will impede digestion and cause illness. Unwelcome news, sudden anxiety, or mental excitement, occurring soon after eating is harmful." Today they have business lunches where they have real exciting arguments. These were the days before ringing telephones and automobiles and blaring radios and TV.

Dr. Cutter quotes from Thomas Jefferson, in writing to Dr. Wistar, of Philadelphia saying, "I would have the physician learn the limit of his art. I would say: Have those who are continually advising 'herb teas, pills, bitters,' and other 'cure-alls,' for any complaint, labelled with some popular name, learn the limits of their duty, namely, attention to the laws of health."

He wrote about nurses in 1852. The nurse should not confine herself to the sick-room more than six hours at a time. She should eat her food regularly, sleep at regular periods, and take exercise daily in the open air. Then he describes the work of "a watcher, or temporary nurse." A very interesting book, from which I hope to quote again.

Legislator Disbarred

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — The Vermont Supreme Court Tuesday disbarred Rep. Donald G. Milne, 32, R-Washington, from the practice of law.

The high court ruled that the first-term legislator "is removed from the office of attorney and counselor at law and solicitor in chancery and his name is stricken from the rolls."

Milne was convicted June 20 on seven counts alleging forgery, embezzlement and fraud in the use of clients' funds.

Milne is in Vermont State Prison at Windsor. He escaped from the prison farm Aug. 28 but turned himself in to police at Albany, N.Y., the next day.

The high court also has pending before it an appeal of Milne's conviction.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST

QUIZ IS FOR GIRLS BUT BOYS CAN LEARN TOO
How do you rate as a date for a college weekend? Give yourself five points for every question you can answer yes to. If you score 80 to 100 you're the belle of the ball; 60 to 80 you'd be asked again, below 60 you'd better brush up on your week-end know-how.

1. Do you check to make sure your date has a confirmed reservation for you in a respectable place?
2. Do you offer to pay your own transportation?
3. Do you check your wardrobe and luggage ahead of time to be sure it's in perfect condition?
4. Do you have a mental check list of accessories and cosmetics so you won't have to borrow?
5. Do you keep your luggage as small and light as possible?

Living With Other Visitors

6. Do you leave half the closet and drawer space for the girl who shares the room with you?
7. Do you greet the chaperones or house mothers in a friendly, enthusiastic manner?
8. If you are to share a room, do you ask the other girl which bed, closet, etc., she would like?
9. Do you hurry when using sinks or showers, remembering the other girls waiting?
10. In your date's fraternity house, do you chat with his friends without waiting to be introduced?
11. Do you get dinner conversation started by asking the boy next to you what his interests are?
12. Do you dance with anyone who cuts in, unless of course, he is drunk?
13. Do you agree to try whatever activity your date suggests?
14. Do you hide your jealousy if your date pays attention to another girl?

The "Lost" Weekend

15. Do you make every effort to hide your disappointment if the weekend doesn't turn out well?
16. Do you show your enthusiasm and appreciation for all your date does for you?
17. Do you make an effort to be friendly with the other girls you meet?
18. Do you root enthusiastically for your date's team even if your heart's in another college?
19. On a blind date, do you "stick with it" even if he's a complete dud?
20. Even though you meet the one man you've dreamed of, do you hide it from your date and devote yourself to him for that weekend, at least?

Does a gentleman remove his hat in an elevator? This question and many others concerning everyday etiquette are answered in the booklet, "Manners in Public." To get a copy, send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Sisterhood Retells Background History Of Holidays Here

Mrs. Seymour Semilof, president, directed the opening meeting of the season of the Sisterhood of Ahavath Israel on Wednesday evening, Sept. 7.

It was announced that Talmud Torah classes for the year will commence on September 19. They will be held at the Jewish Community Center on Maiden Lane until the completion of the new synagogue. For information and registration of Sunday school and new students, contact Mrs. Alfred Rose at the Center.

The fall rummage sale will take place on Nov. 1 and 2 at the vestry with Mrs. Irving Wilpan as chairman. Merchandise may be brought to the next meeting. Call Mrs. Sanford Gosssett for instructions on the tagging of merchandise.

Mrs. Semilof informed the Sisterhood that arrangements are being made for a trip to the Jewish Theological Seminary sometime in October. Plans will include transportation by chartered bus, tour of the school and lunch in the Seminary cafeteria. The Jewish Theological Seminary is supported by Torah Fund pledges. It is a school where rabbis of the future are taught and trained.

Mrs. Norman Kestin, in charge of book sales, reported that the Book Shop has made available inexpensive children's books and coloring books relating to Jewish holidays. Book rentals from the recently enlarged collection can be arranged by contacting Mrs. Paul Johnson.

The Sisterhood special award books for the donor project may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Murray Greene, donor chairman. All completed books should be returned to her promptly.

The next Sisterhood board meeting will be held Wednesday, October 5. The following week on October 12, the Sisterhood will have its regular meeting. The program for the evening will center on United Synagogue Youth.

Mrs. Stephen Scher and Mrs. Arnold Sossner, membership chairmen, greeted and introduced the many guests to the membership. They included the Mmes. Michael Harris, Barnett Sussin, Emma Waas, Nathan Borsky, Ruby Wissok, Milton Wissok, Arnold Cohn, Leonard Rachmilitz, Ronald Bachman, Benjamin Meyerhoff, Theodore Jackaway, Stanley Rosenbaum and Allan Bush. Anyone interested in attending a meeting as a guest or joining the Sisterhood should contact a membership chairman for her willing guidance.

The evening's program, planned by Mrs. Marvin Millens, vice president in charge of programming, and her committee, Mmes. Harry Scheetman, Carl Lipton and Harris Gally, was a most impressive one featuring a panorama of Jewish holidays and how they are celebrated at home. Assorted dinner and party tables were set representing a holiday or festival.

A mother sat at each table. She stood, covered her head with a shawl and proceeded to light the religious candles, speak the appropriate prayer and explain the ways of the holiday. Each holiday seemed to center around the family and the dinner table. Mrs. Harry Scheetman narrated and Miss Candy Harding was at the piano. Mrs. Joseph Colan sang. The mothers were portrayed by the Mmes. Seymour Semilof, Norman Kestin, Joseph Horowitz, Carl Lipton, Harry Spiegel, Marvin Millens, Herman Lowe and Harris Gally.

Mrs. Irving Wilpan, hospitality chairman, was also hostess for the evening in honor of the birth of a granddaughter.

GOP Women Hear Fish Disclose Make-up Of 'Real Resnick' at Last Night's Meeting

Hamilton Fish Jr., in a speech before the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, last night disclosed what he described as "the real Congressman Resnick."

"The Republican candidate said 'Congressman Resnick' has given the people of the district the impression of enormous activity."

"The real facts are different, Congressman Resnick has failed to discharge the first and fundamental obligation as a Congressman. He has failed to participate in legislation."

"In 1963, Mr. Resnick was not present for 35 per cent of the votes taken in Congress. The average of Congressional attendance is 85 per cent and this includes those absent because of illness and the octogenarians of the Congress. What would be the reaction of your employer, if you were absent from work 38 per cent of the time?"

"In the last few weeks, Congressman Resnick has missed important votes on—water pollution, consumer credit, mass transportation, appropriations, small reclamation projects, and labor relations, among others."

"Mr. Resnick's slogan is 'he gets the job done' but the real Mr. Resnick is not there to get the job done."

"But when he is present—how did he vote? The Congressman we know speaks conservatively in the district; but the real Congressman Resnick votes with the most extreme liberal two per cent of the Congress."

"This is clear when the listings of the liberal voting group (Americans for Democratic Action) and the conservative (Americans for Congressional Action) are compared, because these listings do not always consider the same bills."

"It is possible to have a 100 per cent rating in one and a fairly high rating in the other. However, Congressman Resnick had a 100 per cent rating with ADA and a 0 per cent rating with ACA in his first year."

"Thus, the point spread between him and those generally considered leaders of the liberal wing is often quite impressive. Congressman Resnick is 13 points more liberal than Richard Ottinger, 26 to the left of Adam Clayton Powell, and 24 to the left of Wayne Morse. He is to the left of the entire U. S. Senate. Only eight of the 434 Congressmen have compiled a record as liberal as his. He is to the left of every representative in New York City, and no member of the Congress has a more liberal voting record than he."

"The result of this uncritical approach to Great Society programs and the part time attendance is that we have a half of a Rubber Stamp as a Congressman."

Jewish High Holy Days Start Tonight; Local Rites Slated

The Jewish New Year, marking the year 5727, which the Jewish people count according to the Biblical record since creation, begins tonight. "On this day the world was created," so reads a liturgic chant, "and on this day all creatures stand in judgment before the Almighty Creator." The New Year is called in Hebrew Rosh Hashonoh and marks the beginning of 10 days of Penitence and Prayers, which end with the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, which this year begins on Friday evening, Sept. 23.

According to rabbinic allegorical teachings, this holiday, which is commanded in the Bible, is the time when the Books of Life and Death are opened before the Divine Judge, and every man's name is found therein, and he is judged according to his deeds. In keeping with this beautiful explanation, Jews exchange greeting cards and salutations which say, "May You Be Inscribed In The Book Of Life For A Happy New Year." For this reason the Jews repent for their sins, and flock to their synagogues during this season for long hours of praying and atonement.

The shofar, or a ram's horn, is blown, to recall the merit and the piety of Abraham, the first Jew, and the first ancestor of the Hebrews, who was ready to offer his only son, and all his possessions, as an offering to God, if His Divine Father so desired it. But God only tested Abraham's faith and, according to the Bible, he found a ram that he sacrificed instead of his son. The ram's horn is therefore blown on this holiday to arouse the people to remember the faith of their ancestors, and to emulate their deeds.

In synagogues all over the world the Jewish people will gather and during services will call attention to the fact that today, in a world of freedom of worship, the Jews of Russia cannot attend these most important religious services because the Russian authorities have closed down nearly all the synagogues in Russia. The Jewish people in the United States have been protesting these anti-semitic acts of the Russian government, and are continuing to bring pressure for a more liberal policy toward the Jews, who are the only religious group in Russia against which such discrimination is shown.

Spring Valley At Oehler's in 1st League Test

Kingston Sport Club came up with three important announcements today.

1. The Kickers will launch their second German-American League soccer season Sunday at Oehler's against the crack Spring Valley eleven. Game time is 3 p. m.

2. The KSC has been successful in landing the German-American's annual convention for the second straight year in 1967.

3. The Kickers have received special permission to play the Free University team of West Berlin on Oct. 2 in a benefit game for the Ulster County Shriners.

First four games on the fall slate will be:

Sept. 18 — Spring Valley at Kingston.

Sept. 25 — Kingston at Stamford.

Oct. 2 — West Berlin U at Kingston, exhibition.

Oct. 9 — Bavarians at Kingston.

Changes in Lineup

The Kickers will present a lineup of new and old faces in the league opener Sunday. Collegians Eugene Ventriglia and Brian Schnalz will be missing, but high scoring Joe Faccioli is expected to be available through Oct. 10, along with Richie Lotze. Winfried Soddermann is in Germany on vacation and is expected to miss the first three games.

Returning to the lineup are four former stars who helped bring three Central New York League championships to Kingston. The list includes George Vizvary, former star center half; Alex Dirks, valuable all round performer who scored the first goal for the Kickers six years ago.

Schwebel in Lineup

Reiner Schwebel, one of the Kicker's all-time greats, returns after a brief stay in the G-A's Major Division.

Bill and Mike Newmehrschinsky, who played in the professional American League last season, will rejoin the Kickers.

The top discovery of 1966—goalie Timo Liekoski of Rosendale—will be back along with Nick and Toni Alexander, Peter Fuchs and Jim Reinhardt.

Two newcomers are Kurt Vick and Walter Grasmeyer, formerly of the Bavarians of New York.

Delegates Return

Kurt Schoch, the Kickers' publicity director and league delegate, was successful in persuading German-American officials to return to Oehler's for the 1967 convention. The one held there last June was a rousing success.

All twelve teams in the League Division will see action Sunday. The two new entries are Schwaben of New York and Yonkers. They replace Shamrock of New York and College Point who moved up to the Premier Division.

The Sunday schedule: Spring Valley at Kingston, 2:30 p. m.

Kollman vs. West New York at Kessena Park, College Point.

Lithuanian vs. Stamford at Kessena Park.

Schwaben vs. Yonkers at Throggs Neck, Bronx.

Lou Johnson Paces LA Surge Home Runs Pin Loss on Kaat

Raps Two Homers As NL Leaders Dump Mets, 8-3

By MURRAY CHASS

It could be the World Series for the Los Angeles Dodgers and City Hall for Lou Johnson all over again this year.

The two seem to go together, and the Dodgers couldn't be more pleased.

They maintained their 1½ game lead in the torrid National League pennant race Tuesday night by crushing the New York Mets 8-3 behind Johnson's slugging.

The left fielder clouted two homers and drove in four runs, surpassing last year's marks that helped direct him to City Hall in Los Angeles where he received a special citation for his unexpected part in the Dodgers' successful fight for the pennant.

Johnson was called up to the Dodgers, his 18th team in professional baseball, in an emergency last season to fill the left field spot suddenly left vacant when Tommy Davis broke his right ankle May 1.

Delivered in Clutch The Dodgers didn't really expect much from Johnson, but he did more than most of their hitters in driving them to the Series.

He batted only .259, but many of his hits were clutch hits and he drove in 58 runs and tied Jim Lefebvre for the team lead in homers with 12.

"If it hadn't been for the job Johnson did, we might not be here today," Sandy Koufax said after Los Angeles won the pennant.

But this year Johnson is doing even better. His performance against the Mets raised his average to .269 and vaulted him ahead of his 1965 slugging totals. He now has socked 13 homers and driven in 61 runs.

He is second in both departments only to Lefebvre, who has belted 23 homers and knocked in 72 runs.

Los Angeles' two competitors also won Tuesday night, Pittsburgh remaining 1½ games back by walloping Houston 9-3 and San Francisco staying 2½ out with a 7-2 triumph over Philadelphia. In other games, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 3-2 and Atlanta trounced Chicago 10-2.

Osteen Wins 16th Johnson's first homer, in the fourth inning, tied the Mets 2-2, and his second, a three-run blast, climaxed a five-run eruption in the fifth. Lefebvre's two-run single snapped the tie earlier in the inning. Claude Osteen, with relief help from Bob Miller, gained his 16th victory against 11 defeats.

The Pirates unloaded a 16-hit attack on Houston, with Willie Stargell driving in four runs with a sacrifice fly and his 30th homer. Gene Alley stroked four hits and Matty Alou three while Roberto Clemente drove in two runs with a single and a double.

San Francisco's Juan Marichal scattered seven hits for his 22nd victory against six defeats. Tito Fuentes lashed a key two-run double in the sixth inning, and Willie McCovey socked his 29th homer, a two-run shot, in the eighth.

Curt Flood's two-run, eighth-inning double boosted St. Louis past Cincinnati. The blow wiped out a 2-1 lead Cincinnati had taken on Deron Johnson's run-scoring double in the fourth and his homer in the seventh.

Hank Aaron drove in three runs with his 38th and 39th homers, leading an Atlanta attack against Chicago that also included homers by Rico Carty and Felipe Alou.

Twin Southpaw Is Victimized By Tigers, 6-5

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer Jim Kaat, who leads the majors in home runs given up by a 23-game winner, has finally had cause to regret it.

Of course, there's only one other pitcher with 23 victories around — fellow name of Koufax — and Kaat, who had won eight games in a row despite opposition homers, was done in by a couple Tuesday and missed a golden opportunity to pass Sandy in most victories.

A three-run homer by Willie Horton and a solo by Bill Freehan gave Detroit just enough runs to post a 6-5 triumph over Minnesota and deny Kaat his 24th victory and ninth in a row. In his last four outings, the Minnesota southpaw has surrendered six homers, but not till Tuesday did it seem to matter. The Twins always came back with at least enough runs to win, and often a lot more than enough.

They almost did it again Tuesday, too. Minnesota got three unearned runs in the second and, after Detroit had taken a 6-3 lead, Zola Versalles hit a home run to bring Minnesota within a run.

Yields 22 Homers In all, Kaat has given up 22 home runs this season, as against 17 allowed by Koufax. Jim was nicked for a first-inning run by the Tigers and then retired 16 men in a row before Jake Wood singled in the sixth inning. Al Kaline then walked and Horton hit his 25th homer. Freehan hit his the following inning.

In other American League contests, Boston beat Chicago 10-1. Washington edged New York 3-2 and Kansas City outlasted Cleveland 3-1 in 15 innings. Baltimore and California were rained out.

The Detroit victory put the Tigers back in second place 9½ games behind the Orioles, and dropped the Twins to third, 10 games out.

George Scott was the hero of the Boston rout, driving in four runs with a single and a double. Jim Lonborg gave up just six hits, including two doubles and a single.

Scott on Rampage Bob Saverine hit a two-run homer, boosting the Senators past the Yankees as Phil Ortega, 11-12, went the distance. Bobby Murcer drove in a run for the Yankees with a triple and scored on a single by Joe Pepitone.

Kansas City and Cleveland were threatening to play just about forever until Roger Repoz' two-run homer in the 15th sent everybody home. Fred Whitfield's 27th homer had tied the game for Cleveland in the eighth.

Seattle Captures Coast Loop Title SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Seattle Angels had a little something extra to go with their Halo headgear today — the Pacific Coast League baseball crown.

The Angels edged Tulsa's Oilers 3-1 Tuesday night to win their first title since the late Fred Hutchinson guided them to a pennant in 1955 before the league was split into two divisions.

Seattle's victory margin in the series was four games to three for the Oilers, who had won the Eastern Division championship by 4½ games in their first year in the PCL. Tight defensive play and brilliant pitching marked all seven games.

Finger Lakes Winner CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP) — Tanteo, a 4-year-old gelding, scored a three-length victory Tuesday over Florinda in the $1,300 seventh race feature at Finger Lakes Race Track.

Nyglow ran third.

Ferraro Hitless, Yanks Bow, 3-2

Mike Ferraro was hitless in three trips to the plate last night as the Yankees bowed to the Washington Senators, 3-2, at Yankee Stadium.

Ferraro's third inning line drive was caught in left field by Frank Howard. He popped to the shortstop in the sixth and was fanned for the first time in the seventh, foul tipping a 1-2 pitch from Phil Ortega.

In the field, Mike cleanly handled four chances. He started a doubleplay in the second inning. He also began a potential twin killing in the fifth but Horace Clarke's throw to first base was wild and it enabled the winning run to score.

Ferraro has one hit in 14 times at bat since his recall from Toledo.

Army Opens Saturday Against Kansas State

Cahill in Debut As Cadet Coach

WEST POINT — Army unveils its 1966 football model—complete with new coach and a changed offense and defense—Saturday at 2 p. m. at Michie Stadium.

The Cadets play their first game under Coach Tom Cahill against Kansas State of the Big Eight conference. This will be the first meeting between Army and Kansas State.

Tickets for the opening game are still available and the stadium's 31,000 capacity is not expected to be taxed. Tickets may be obtained from the Army Athletic Association or at the gate.

Area interest will center on the exploits of Townsend Clarke, Army's All-America linebacker candidate, who is one of 17 lettermen on the 1966 roster. Clarke was rated honorable mention on some All-Americas last year and named to second teams on others.

17 Lettermen Return
Thirteen of the 17 lettermen on the roster are expected to get opening spots on the two platoons. Reserves from 1965 could get five more which means that four sophomores will be starters against the Wildcats.

Barring last minute changes, the Cadet openers line up like this: Offense—Terry Young, Gary Steele, end; Mike Neuman, Keith Harrelson, tackles; Nick Kurilko, John Nerdahl, guards;

Goldleaf Leads Locals to 2nd

Ron Goldleaf of Kingston, driving a H. F. King Corporation Lotus, placed second in a field of 14 modified sports racing cars at the Reading, Penn. race.

In third position, driving a King Devin Chevrolet, was Victor Franzese of Watkins Glen, N. Y. This was Franzese's first drive in the Devin.

The King team's next race will be on Oct. 23 at Watkins Glen.

Clever Who Wins On Dares' Break

MONTICELLO — Breaking horses are a never-ending part of harness racing but they can't help but be aggravating to the fan, owner and driver. The fan certainly doesn't like to see his selection go off stride, that usually means a loss of money. To the owner and driver, though, the purse is the biggest loss and amounts to a lot of loot, too.

Such was the case with Hasty Dares last night at Monticello Raceway. With Gerry Roider driving, Hasty Dares was winning the featured fourth race until a break a few feet short of the wire ruined his chances and sent the major share of the purse flying out the window.

Roider, catch-driving for trainer Dick Williams II, raced Hasty Dares in a forward position throughout the first three quarters. He charged out to challenge at the third station and took command as they straightened away for home.

The five-year-old son of Worthy Aristocrat-Play Tag looked to be an easy winner but suddenly, Canadian champion Gilles La Chance came charging on the outside behind his Clever Who. When Clever Who reached even terms with Hasty Dares, the latter jumped and the former shot by to record the victory.

Inquiry Goes Up
The judges immediately posted the inquiry sign for Hasty Dares' break. If the third place finisher, R.B. Mac, had been lapped on Hasty Dares, he would have been moved up to second and Hasty Dares dropped back. But the photo showed that R.B. Mac was not lapped on Hasty Dares so he stayed up on the board where he actually finished. In posting the 2-08.1 victory, the five-year-old Clever Who returned $7.80, 4.40 and 2.80 across the board. It was the fifth win of the season for the son of Clever Boy-Volitia who is owned by Bernard and Trudeau Stables of Montreal, Que.

The 5 and 6 daily double paid $135.60. Winning horses were Peggy A. in the first and Apostle Star in the second.

Toronto Beats Richmond Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto's Maple Leafs are threatening to make a rout of the International League Governor's Cup playoffs against a Richmond team whose biting attack has all but reached the vanishing point.

The Leafs, who beat the Braves 2-0 on Ed Rakow's one-hitter Monday night in the opener of the best-of-seven series at Toronto, beat them 2-0 again Tuesday night on Galen Cisco's four-hitter.

Tonight the competition moves to Richmond where the Braves, down 0-2, hope to find their punch. At least, that's where they lost it.

Counting the last five innings of a 1-0 victory over Rochester last Saturday which enabled them to bump the pennant-winning Red Wings from the semifinal playoffs, the Braves now have gone scoreless in 23 consecutive innings and in the last 26 frames have had just 10 hits.

Saddest figure of all in the loss by Richmond has been its top hitter and RBI leader, outfielder Bill Robinson, who has had one single in 20 trips to the plate in six playoff games.

The Maple Leafs, 1965 Governor's Cup champions who are trying to become the first IL team to win the playoffs two straight years since Rochester did it in 1955 and 1956, haven't been exactly overpowering at the plate against the Braves. They had only eight hits Monday and seven Tuesday off three Richmond pitchers.

But they've had center fielder Reggie Smith, and that's been plenty. Smith, who had homered for half the Toronto runs Monday, homered for half of them again Tuesday.

John Ryan's single and Al Lehrer's double gave Cisco the only run he needed. Smith's homer came in the eighth.

Lefty Bill Rohr is scheduled to pitch for the Maple Leafs against lefty Dan Schneider for Richmond in tonight's third game.

Townsend Clarke, Army's brilliant captain and linebacker, is at the point of no return in his quest for authentic All-America rating.

Army adherents led by Frank E. Walter, the public relations director at the Point, made a strong case for Clarke in 1965 and there was loud screaming when he was omitted from the major All-Americans. They insisted he deserved it on merit.

Army's unimpressive record of 4 wins, 5 losses and a tie in 1965 mitigated against Clarke's chances. All-America selectors rarely pick from losing teams, just as in major league baseball the candidate on the pennant winning team always has the odds stacked in his favor for MVP honors.

Factors involved in Army's 1966 setup are not likely to enhance Clarke's quest for the All-America. The Cadets have a brand new coach, Tom Cahill, who has completely scratched the Paul Dietzel system and started from scratch. It may take time for the new system to jell.

There are six formidable opponents on Army's schedule—Penn State, Pittsburgh, Tennessee, California, Navy and always Notre Dame (as early as Oct. 8). The remainder of the slate includes Kansas State, George Washington, Holy Cross and Rutgers.

Unless Army can mount a winning season against this impressive array of opponents, Clarke may again be the victim of circumstances. It has happened to many other deserving players before him and he will be no less an All-America because of it.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Coach Joe Palone's Army soccer team opens its 17th season under him with a record of 112 victories and only 39 losses. Twenty other games ended in ties. Joe, well known as a Mid-Hudson scholastic basketball referee, has nine lettermen returning from the 1965 team which advanced to semi-finals of the NCAA championships. One of them is captain Joe Casey of Trenton, who scored 23 goals last year to break an Academy record and win All-America honors. . . . Reports out of Poughkeepsie indicate that touring golf professionals Doug Sanders and Dave Marr were less than a ball of fire in their charity exhibition at Dutchess Golf and Country Club. Sanders went 4 over par, Marr seven over. The children's charity was a big winner, however, as three thousand $3 tickets were sold. About 2,000 persons witnessed the match and many didn't stay to finish.

Soccer's Big Surge:

The Kingston Sport Club launching another German-American League season Sunday at Oehler's co-incides with the current surge of American interest in this truly international sport. No doubt the NBC-telescope of England's thrill packed 4-2 victory over Germany in the World Cup finals has helped immeasurably to focus attention on soccer. An impressive picture spread in Life and numerous advance stories on the upcoming coast-to-coast professional league are further harbingers of things to come. Soccer is flourishing on the high school and college level in the United States. The tremendous turnout of 41,598 spectators at Yankee Stadium for the clash between Brazil (with the fabulous Pele) and Inter-Milan of Italy proved that the American sports public can be lured to the major attractions. The first major problem facing American soccer promoters is to eliminate the warring factions and traces of nationalism that still mar the internal operation of the internal operation of the sport.

Up There to Stay:

The early line on Mike Ferraro is extremely encouraging. In his few Yankee outings to date has proved (a) he is an authentic major league fielder; (b) he has a solid batting stance and sound swing and (c) he doesn't go fishing for bad pitches. He draws fewer walks than he would like but that department can be improved. He is buoyed by the legendary team spirit of the Yankees and Manager Ralph Houk's confidence in him. He has many plus factors going for him. We don't see how he can miss.

Name Johnny Roland as Top Offensive Player in NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Roland wasn't even a starter last Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals played the Philadelphia Eagles. He didn't play the first half, except to run back a punt for 11 yards.

But when Charley Winner, new Cardinal coach, cut him loose in the second half, he helped St. Louis turn a 10-3 deficit into a 16-13 victory. Johnny will start from now on.

Because of his inspired performance under pressure, The Associated Press has selected the Missouri rookie halfback as the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Roland ran for first downs three times after he entered the game. He rushed eight times for 53 yards, caught two passes for 40 yards, returned two kickoffs for 50 yards and brought back two punts for 16 yards. For his first day on the job—even if it was a half day—he contributed 159 yards to total offense.

"I thought about starting Roland earlier in the week," Winner said. "But I decided to go with experience. I went to him in the second half because he's an opportunist. He reminds me of Paul Hornung in that he makes the most of what he has."

NFL Figures Are Misleading

NEW YORK (AP) — Statistics can be misleading. The first crop of team figures for the National Football League emphasize the point.

The Chicago Bears are best on defense, according to the yardage tale, yielding only 208 yards in their opener. But they lost to Detroit 14-3.

Pittsburgh was No. 1 against the running game, holding New York to 32 yards. They just got out with a 34-34 tie.

San Francisco was the top performer on pass defense, allowing Minnesota only 72 yards. Still, the 49ers wound up in a 20-20 tie with the Vikings.

Look at the figures for team offense.

Los Angeles had the best over-all attack with 421 yards. They managed to sneak through against the new expansion team from Atlanta, 19-14, but they did it with four field goals.

The Vikings, shot down in the air, were the leading rushers with 226 yards in their 20-20 tie with the 49ers.

Los Angeles also showed the way in passing offense with 275 yards, but Roman Gabriel's 21 of 35 produced only one touchdown in that 19-14 victory.

Individual offensive leaders for the first week were Bill Brown of Minnesota with 99 yards on 16 carries to top the rushers and Tommy McDonald of Los Angeles with nine catches for 114 yards and No. 1 place among the receivers.

Bill Nelson of Pittsburgh was rated first among the passers in the complicated rating system used by the NFL.

Select LSU, Trojans To Win Grid Openers

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The June bugs still are buzzing around the garden, but here it is the start of the football season. Here are this week's winners:

Louisiana State over South Carolina: When this one was scheduled, it was just an ordinary game but now that Paul Dietzel, onetime LSU coach is boss of the Carolinians, it has taken on the hue of a grudge match.

Southern California over Texas: Trojans patched all their holes with junior college transfers, some of whom are potential super stars. Texas defense built around Diron Talbert.

Michigan State over North Carolina State: Two-thirds of the Spartans' Rose Bowl squad returns, including Bob Apisa, the Hawaiian Hummer.

Nebraska over Texas Christian: Once again, Nebraska has everything. Tackle Bob Picken is a svelte 274-pounder.

UCLA over Pittsburgh: The Panthers from the East have neither teeth nor claws while the Bruins have Gary Beban, who rewrote the book last year as a sophomore quarterback.

Arkansas over Oklahoma State: Oklahoma State will be strong on defense while the Porkers are strong on defense — and offense.

Purdue over Ohio University: Bob Griese still directs the Boilermaker attack.

Georgia over Mississippi State: The Georgians missed the Southeastern Conference title by two plays last year. This year they will be even better. Illinois over Southern Methodist: The Illini are rated one of the best in the Big Ten. Jerry LeVias, a flanker for the Mustangs, rated one of the country's best sophomores.

Navy over Boston College: Both teams have giant lines, but Navy also has solved its quarterback problems in the person of John Cartwright.

Missouri over Minnesota: Graduation losses were less at Missouri.

Washington State over California: A squeaker.

Francis Hanlon's Molly Brook Dean caught Miss Prim Trim and won by a half-length in 2:02 4-3. Highly rated Tar Della was third in the mile contest.

Molly Brook Dean returned $14.80.

In the trotting feature, for 2-year-old colts, Joe Zam won by a nose over Sir Cingle in 2:06 2-5. Meadow Torrence was third.

Joe Zam returned $18.80.

In races featured at other harness tracks: YONKERS—Becker Hanover ($11.80), a 4-year-old son of Trepid, defeated High Gun by a half-length in the $4,500 Yardsley-McKesson pace in 2:03 2-5.

Sangi's Bowlero, Mid-City Lanes Host KBA Events

Sangi's Bowlero and Mid-City Lanes were named sites for the 1967 Kingston Bowling Association tournament at last night's meeting of the KBA.

The team events will be held Feb. 18-19 at Sangi's, with singles and doubles, Feb. 25-26, at Mid-City.

Tournament manager Albert O. Sonnenberg announced three changes in the format for the tournament. Three pairs of bowlers will roll on two lanes in singles and doubles, instead of the traditional two pair. The move is designed to save time on changing squads, Sonnenberg said.

Another change makes it compulsory for all bowlers rolling doubles to compete in the singles event. KBA secretary Joe Mannello said the change would affect only a handful of bowlers, according to past records.

The association also raised the fee for all events from $1 to $2 in line with general practice across the country.

Assisting Sonnenberg on the tournament committee are KBA vice presidents Harold Stewart, Joseph Primo and John Frederick, along with tournament secretary Mannello and KBA president William Eienkel.

Sonnenberg said he would push for early signing of entries and plans to distribute entry blanks to board members at the October meeting. They will be assigned specific leagues to solicit for entries.

Lawrence McHugh tendered his resignation as a vice president because of outside pressures. He expressed a desire to remain a director. The board will fill the vice president vacancy at the October meeting.

SF Inks Franks For Another Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herman Franks has signed a third one-year contract to manage the San Francisco Giants, fighting now for the National League pennant.

"We all think he has done a splendid job," announced club owner Horace Stoneham Tuesday. "There was no question he would be rehired."

Terms were not announced. But it was believed Franks, 51, will get $50,000 for leading the club in 1967.

He doesn't need the money. He doesn't even need the job. A number of shrewd investments in land, supermarkets and a mobile home business have left him independently wealthy. But, as he has explained, he likes the challenge. His playing career lasted 19 years.

Stoneham also announced that Franks will retain all his present coaches next year—Charlie Fox, Cookie Lavagetto and Larry Jansen. Pitching coach Jansen currently is recovering from a recent heart attack.

Franks is somewhat of a switch as a manager. He asks for one-year pacts only while most managers would prefer the security of a multi-year agreement. Franks also does not cater to the press. He's often gruff with newsmen.

But owner Stoneham likes the way he handles the players. Team Capt. Willie Mays, 35, is happy with Franks because the center fielder can get needed rests anytime he asks for them.

Most of the other players also like the way Franks rallies around them and the way he protects them from critical comment by newsmen who follow the team.

Franks never managed a major league team before he replaced Alvin Dark here after the last game of the 1964 season. He coached for the Giants in both New York and San Francisco, left baseball for a short time, and then returned to the club at Dark's request at the start of the 1964 season.

Franks lives in Salt Lake City where he has extensive business interests. He's invested some money there with Mays.

Picket Union Office

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — It was a switch indeed, pickets parading in front of headquarters of the laborers' union Tuesday.

A picket said the line was set up to protect work assignments made by union officials.

Thirty or more men declined to cross the picket line.

Mountains are composed largely of rocks made up of silicon and aluminum compounds.

Dr. Coppolino Suffers Seizure At Murder Airing

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino, scheduled for trial Nov. 7 in the death of his first wife, was in a guarded hospital room today after collapsing in court.

Hospital officials said Coppolino's attorney had instructed that they withhold word on his condition but added he wasn't believed to be in any danger.

Rushed to Hospital

The 34-year-old author-doctor was rushed to the hospital after collapsing in Circuit Court Tuesday during a preliminary hearing to determine whether he should stand trial. Gasping and clutching his chest, he was carried to an ambulance. His second wife, Mary, was at his side.

Coppolino has said he has a heart condition. He was hospitalized the night of his arrest July 23 after complaining of chest pains, and again last month for the same reason.

His seizure came about 30 minutes after Marjorie Farber, testifying for the defense, told the court she and the slightly built doctor had been "intimate" and had taken several trips together in 1963, including one to Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Farber, 52, is the widow of William Farber, a retired Army colonel. Coppolino is accused of killing in 1963 when he and his first wife were neighbors of the Farbers in New Jersey.

Mentioned Drug

Mrs. Farber, an attractive woman with dark hair, also told the court she had heard Coppolino mention a drug which the state contends he used to kill his first wife, Dr. Carmela Coppolino, 32, at their Sarasota home in August 1965. The drug was once thought to be undetectable.

Judge Lynn N. Silvertooth recessed the hearing until tonight.

He had completed the preliminary hearing, upholding the trial, and was listening to testimony of a fugitive warrant from New Jersey. The judge also is scheduled to hear a defense motion to release Coppolino on bail.

Coppolino has been indicted on murder charges in New Jersey and Sarasota. The deaths of Farber and Carmela Coppolino originally were attributed to heart attacks.

The Wiedy Furniture Company with stores on Route 28 Kingston and in Accord and Middletown, Tuesday opened a fourth store in Poughkeepsie.

Wiederspiel said the store will employ eight persons and that the manager will be Mrs. Doris Butler, formerly of Butler's Furniture in West Hurley.

Wiederspiel told The Freeman today, "It is always a challenge opening a new store and we are confident of success. We will continue the policy of the Wiedy Furniture Company which is The Highest Quality at the Lowest Price."

Spear Declares Cut in Tax Credit May Spur Inflation

BABSON PARK, Mass. — The Administration's attempts to cool off the capital spending boom could lead over the long term to more serious inflation unless personal income taxes are also increased, according to Roger E. Spear, president of Spear & Staff, Inc., investment advisory firm.

The Administration's moves confront investors with "a sizeable question mark," Spear said. While applauding efforts to relieve the money squeeze, he said the Administration may have "put the cart before the horse" in asking Congress for a 16-month suspension of the 7 percent investment tax credit and the accelerated depreciation allowance on commercial and industrial building. These two moves are more likely to inhibit the country's economic growth than to have any important effect in slowing inflation.

"Our industrial plant is working at near-full capacity now," he said. "If the creation of new production facilities is curtailed by tax and depreciation moves against corporations, and at the same time money is poured into the hands of consumers through war spending and Great Society programs, a condition could arise whereby the demand for goods would substantially exceed the ability of the industry to supply those goods, and a take-off point for real price inflation, the only cure for which would be substantially increased personal income taxes."

Taxes Will Be Hiked

Spear said this line of argument leads to the conclusion that there will ultimately be an increase in personal income taxes, as well as an increase in corporate taxes since "it is politically inexpedient to increase personal taxes without simultaneously increasing corporate taxes." However, Spear went on to say, "The Administration will watch the effect of its new policies and if it becomes necessary to hike taxes the timing of such a move may be several months away."

"Of more immediate interest to investors," he said, "are two other proposals of the Administration. These are a slowdown in the sale of federal securities which are competing in the market for long-term capital, and a request to the Federal Reserve Board and major commercial banks to assist in the lowering of interest rates and to allocate existing supplies of credit more equitably."

"Since the money-rate-stock yield relationship has been a major factor in the decline in the market," said Spear, "any easing of the credit situation would lift some of the pressure off stock prices. On the other hand, corporate profits are likely to be squeezed in 1967, although probably not seriously, and we doubt if the present dividend structure is in any danger, which is, of course, a factor in stock yields."

New Economic Picture

"Where does this leave the individual common stock investor?" asked Spear. "An entirely new economic picture has been presented," he says, "but the variables in it tend to wash each other out. Inflation has certainly not been a factor in the market in recent months. A serious recession is not anticipated. The key to the market's outlook still seems to be the near-term and long-term outlook for the relationship between stock yields and money rates."

"Here," Spear goes on to say, "there is still an historically wide spread against stocks, and some narrowing of the gap must precede any sustained long-term rise in the market. As a general policy," Spear continues, "investors should proceed cautiously until the stock-yield-money rate relationship appears fully adjusted."

Candidates Proposal

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Milton J. Shapp, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee in Pennsylvania, has proposed a look-at-all-enforcement methods and recommend legislation to revise the state's liquor control laws.

Shapp said the liquor laws haven't been changed since 1933 and such a probe "will help the industry to better police itself, the liquor board to do its job better, and the citizens to better understand the industry and its problems."

The former Philadelphia industrialist made the proposal Tuesday at a convention of the Pennsylvania Tavern Association here.

Koota Subpoenaed Financial Data Of 61 in Racing

NEW YORK (AP) — Dist. Atty. Aaron E. Koota of Brooklyn has subpoenaed the financial records of 61 drivers, trainers, officials and owners in his investigation into possible race fixing at the Yonkers, Monticello and Roosevelt harness tracks.

Many of the subpoenas were served Tuesday at the Manhattan offices of the state Racing Commission where the figures had been called. Among them were leading money-making drivers Billy Haughton and Stanley Dancer.

Investigators also handed out 23 more subpoenas at Monticello Raceway.

The group, with exception of three racing secretaries and other track representatives, were ordered to bring their financial records dating back to Jan. 1, 1963 before the Brooklyn grand jury next Thursday.

The track officials were told to report to the same panel next Wednesday.

Koota's investigation has come under criticism from the owners of the three tracks as "headline hunting."

The Standardbred Owners Association, representing about 1,000 horse owners and trainers, has also expressed reservations about the investigation. It said Tuesday it was disturbed "by the completely reckless and irresponsible manner in which Mr. Koota and his office staff have proceeded in this matter."

Precautions . . .

tic hopes the first lunar voyage might be attempted in 1968.

Here, NASA, the Public Health Service and the Atomic Energy Commission will team to decide when an all-clear can be declared.

Fit Is Ready

A 50-foot-deep basement with 3-foot concrete walls has been built for the AEC radiation studies on men and machine.

This cautious association with the moon crew under any other circumstances might seem downright impolite, and begins the minute the spacecraft hits the lunar home from an eight-day journey.

For instance, when frogmen leap into the ocean to help the astronauts and attach a flotation collar to keep the spacecraft from sinking, they first leave three protective isolation suits in a small raft beside the craft and swim away.

These rescuers normally chat freely with returning spacemen, and often the first earplugs to touch them. Not this time. The rule of the moment will be: "Assist the flight crew (astronauts) only if needed; otherwise move some distance away until the crew dons the biological isolation suits."

Outside Seen Safe

Officials are not concerned that the outside surface of the Apollo moonship might be contaminated, figuring that the searing, 6,000-degree heat of re-entry to earth's atmosphere would burn away any foreign particles, or organisms.

While the outside may be burned clean, the inside remained a comfortable temperature. Therefore, once plucked out of the water, no one goes inside the vehicle except one of the astronauts, who slips in to get the lunar samples and other selected items.

Although the lunar landing flight plan calls for only two members of the three-man crew to descend to the moon's surface in a small excursion vehicle, all three will face the rigid quarantine.

The astronauts head directly into isolation quarters with a doctor and technician aboard the recovery ship, which hurries to the nearest port.

Take Precautions

Moon samples, recorded data from the trip and astronaut biological specimens are to be flown directly from the ship to Houston. The astronauts wait for a flight until reaching port, while the spacecraft—its hatch tightly sealed—is either flown or transported by rail to the laboratory.

The exact schedule for the decontamination period is now only in the planning stages, but according to Joseph V. Piland, the laboratory's program manager, it will be devised with three primary purposes in mind:

"1. Quarantine and testing for possible harmful organisms in samples, the astronauts and the spacecraft."

"2. Perform scientific investigation time-critical (necessary immediately) that must be accomplished."

"3. Distribute the samples to the scientific community for highly specialized investigation."

Equally important to the scientific community in terms of isolation is caution in handling the moon samples to prevent the possibility that the rocks might be contaminated by earth atmosphere.

Hands Measure Up?

Groomed hands are pretty hands. Their size, their shape and the color of your nail polish have little to do with it. What counts is how clean, smooth and neatly manicured your hands are.

Ulster County Savings Ups Interest Rate

Howard C. St. John, president of the Ulster County Savings Bank, 280 Wall Street, today announced that starting the next quarter, the bank will pay interest at the rate of 4.75 up from 4.50 per cent.

Some time ago the Kingston Savings Bank increased the interest rate to 4.75.

Winners Include

St. Paul lawyer, who swept past nominal opposition in the GOP primary.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, a former Minnesota senator, took no active part in the primary campaign, although he backed Keith after the party nominated the lieutenant governor on the 20th ballot. He called early today for party unity in support of Rolvaag and predicted his re-election.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, took no side publicly in the Bay State Democratic primary, but promised to support Tuesday's victor in November.

This means Kennedy will be working for McCormack, whom he defeated in a bitter battle for the Senate nomination in 1962, in his general election campaign against GOP incumbent John A. Volpe, who was unopposed. McCormack is the nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Peabody Defeats Collins

Former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, trying for a political comeback, defeated Boston Mayor John F. Collins in the Democratic race for Senate nomination.

Peabody will face in November Republican Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, who was nominated without opposition. If victorious, Brooke will be the first Negro to sit in the Senate in 85 years.

Peabody also defeated a third candidate, Thomas B. Adams, a descendant of President John Adams and John Quincy Adams. Adams campaigned in opposition to the Viet Nam war.

Wisconsin Democrats gave Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey their nomination for governor. Lucey, a staunch supporter of President Kennedy, will face Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who was unopposed for renomination.

Other Primary Results

In other primaries Tuesday, Arizona's former Phoenix Mayor Jack Williams won the GOP nomination for governor. Gov. Sam Goddard and Rep. George F. Senner Jr., Democrats, were in tight races for renomination.

Colorado — J. Edgar Chenoweth, a House member for 22 years of the last 26 years, appeared losing to David W. Enoch in a Republican bid for renomination to another term. Rep. Frank E. Evans, who defeated Chenoweth two years ago, won Democratic renomination. Sen. Gordon L. Allott and Gov. John A. Love won Republican renominations.

Maryland — Baltimore contractor George P. Mahoney defeated Rep. Carlton R. Sickles in a tight race for Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Sickles supported open housing. Mahoney opposed it. The winner faces Spiro T. Agnew, county executive of Baltimore County, who won the GOP nomination.

New Hampshire — Former Gov. Hugh Gregg won GOP nomination to challenge Democratic Gov. John W. King. Retired Brig. Gen. Harrison R. Thynne earned the GOP bid to try unseating Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, a Democrat. Rep. J. Oliver Huot, a freshman Democrat and supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, won renomination against William F. Horan Jr., who argued that only volunteers should be sent to Viet Nam. In another Democratic House race marked by the Viet Nam controversy, Iam Barry Jr. downed Eugene S. Daniell Jr., a sharp foe of Johnson's war policies.

New Jersey — Warren W. Wilentz, a supporter of administration Viet Nam policies, captured the Democratic Senate nomination from David Frost, a vehement critic of the war. Wilentz will challenge Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case, unopposed in the primary.

Rhode Island — Lt. Col. Ruth M. Briggs, a retired WAC, defeated conservative Charles H. Eden in the GOP senatorial race and will oppose Democratic incumbent Clairborne Pell in November. Rep. Ferdinand J. St. Germain won the Democratic battle for renomination.

4-H Club News

Group to Visit Chicago

A special group of about 50 teen-age boys, and perhaps a girl or two, will visit Chicago the last week in November as delegates to the 45th National 4-H Club Congress. Among them will be the 1966 state 4-H tractor project award winners sponsored in this state and 39 others by American Oil Foundation.

The next big honor for the group will be selection of the 12 national scholarship recipients. The dozen will be chosen from among all state winners. National judging will be based on individual 4-H Club record books covering all of their years in 4-H, including the years in the tractor program.

Selections will be made early in November, and winners announced during the 4-H Congress. The scholarships are for $500 each.

GE Feels Free Of Restraints on Mixed Meetings

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric Co. has served notice on the largest union of its employees that, on the basis of last week's ruling by a federal court, GE no longer feels legally compelled to bargain with a multiunion committee.

The company gave that word Tuesday to the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), which represents 79,400 GE workers in plants in a number of states.

Spokesmen for the union replied that the IUE would continue to insist on bargaining for a new contract through a committee of its own choosing.

Stay At Table

Despite the union's stand, GE negotiators remained at the bargaining table — at least temporarily.

Philip D. Moore, chief GE negotiator with the IUE, said the company is "more interested in moving ahead with the IUE negotiations than in standing on ceremony as to how IUE should be represented in the latest results in the courts."

The union said Moore opened Tuesday's bargaining session — the first since the court ruling on Thursday — by reading a prepared statement. Moore asked in the statement that the IUE meet company representatives with "the usual IUE bargaining team."

The IUE has bargained with GE on a nationwide basis for years. This year, the IUE included in its bargaining committee representatives of several other unions of GE employees which have been certified only as local representatives of company workers.

The union says its strategy is aimed at presenting a united front on serious issues and the IUE calls it "coordinated" bargaining. The company, calling it "coalition" bargaining, contends the presence of a multi-union committee is disruptive to normal bargaining procedures.

No Contact With Force

The air cavalrymen flushed Viet Cong troops from holes and tunnels but so far had not engaged the main Communist force.

Communist ground fire destroyed one helicopter and damaged five others. Communist gunners also brought down a U.S. Air Force F100 Supersabre jet. The pilot went down with his plane.

In other developments, a grenade lobbed by an American military vehicle in Gia Dinh City adjacent to Saigon, injuring three U.S. servicemen. The terrorist escaped.

— About 100 rounds of enemy mortar fire hit the command post of the 1st Battalion, 1st Marines, 12 miles southeast of Da Nang. A spokesman said most of the shells landed in the artillery and amphibious tractor areas and casualties were light.

Air Strikes Continue

— In the same area a combined patrol of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese popular forces engaged a Viet Cong platoon of about 30 men. Five Viet Cong were killed, the patrol said, but the patrol also suffered heavy casualties.

Air strikes against targets in North Viet Nam continued at a steady pace Tuesday. Pilots who struck the Dong Hoi missile site said a storage building and oil supplies also were hit, causing a large secondary fire.

Other fighter bombers raided Communist positions in the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam, hitting North Vietnamese bivouac and ammunition storage areas and oil supplies. A spokesman said four buildings were destroyed and a number of secondary fires started.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Intrepid made six forays against a group of railroad cars southwest of Thanh Hoa, destroying or heavily damaging 20 boxcars and flat cars.

North Viet Nam's official paper Nhan Dan said U.S. forces in South Viet Nam "are trying to gain a breathing spell in order to prepare for a bigger counteroffensive with greater 'takes in the coming dry season.'"

Only the strongest winds can whip up the sluggish surface of the Dead Sea, because of its great salt content.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market weathered a mild decline and moved on an even keel early this afternoon. Trading was slack.

There was a moderate price decline in the morning and a considerable falling off in trading. Analysts said the market was taking a breather after its three-day recovery drive.

The profit taking in the rise, however, was already under way, with sharply late Tuesday among many of the glamor "stocks" even as the overall market posted its third straight gain. The result was that traders picked up a number of these office equipment-photo-graphic-electronic issues and some of them fared pretty well.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up -23 to 785.1.

Doesn't Like Lottery

After his address the Governor fielded questions from the audience one of which was whether he would sign a bill creating a state lottery. He said, "If the people vote for it this fall in the people's vote for a constitutional amendment then they have spoken and I will try to abide by it. But personally, I think it is a very retrogressive tax. It is supposed to help those who have the least money but I don't think it'll work that way."

In Puerto Rico some years ago I was involved in setting up supermarkets for the people. Our American system brought the cost of staples down about 20 per cent. Now at the time, Puerto Rico had a lottery and most of the poor people were gambling on it. There was a two-week strike by lottery ticket sellers and sales in the supermarkets went up by 30 per cent. I personally think a lottery would suppose to help the underprivileged."

Revere Voting Age

The Governor approved of reducing the voting age to 18. "If our young people are old enough to defend the policies of this country with their lives they are old enough to take part in determining those policies."

Speaking on the controversial subject of Medicaid the governor said, "We have finally done away with the double standard of medical coverage in this state. Instead of having one system for the rich and one for the poor we now have a program that will in that practically everyone has adequate medical and dental coverage."

The Governor defended his tuition program by comparing the City University of New York, which is tuition-free, to the rest of the State University system. "By not charging tuition in New York, he said, they have found the facilities cannot expand and accept only the top students; you need at least an 87 to be accepted."

Chance for Everyone

"This is just what we want to avoid. We are not running a state university system for the intellectually elite. Every high school graduate should have a chance to go to college in the state."

That is why we've set up the tuition plan. All that money goes into the construction fund to expand the university so that more students can attend. The tuition is $400 a year per student, but a student in need can get as much as $500 in a scholar incentive loan."

The Governor did not dwell on what has been his favorite criticism of the Democratic party: bousism. He tended to reserve his comments on the U.S. Capitol region and what he had done for it during the past eight years.

However, he did reaffirm his support of a Romney-Javits Republican presidential ticket in 1968.

Lauds Wilson

In discussing his antipollution program and increased recreation facilities in the state, the Governor singled out Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson for special praise. "The vision of your fine assemblyman, Ken Wilson in conceiving the proposal of the Wittenberg Valley State Park warrants special commendation. It is my intention to include in my next Executive budget funds for the preparation of the necessary development plans for this project. The state has now acquired all of the required 579 acres except one tract of 58 acres in final negotiation."

Rockefeller spoke of a pure waters program designed to eliminate pollution in Ulster County in the next six years at an estimated cost of $13,330,000 for sewage treatment plants and interceptors needed in the county. He said the state would pay 60 per cent of the cost.

The Governor said that the Taxes to Stay Gov. Rockefeller Says that money be raised? It would have to be raised by the individual community in the form of higher realty taxes.

"Speaking of higher education in the state, the Governor said, 'Both of my grandfathers were dropouts at 14. In those days, you could make a go of it. Now if you're a high school dropout, you have extreme difficulty finding a decent job. If you're a college graduate, the jobs come looking for you.'"

Fastest Growing University

"When I took office in 1958, the state spent a total of $100 million on higher education. This year will spend five times that. The State of New York has the fastest growing university in the nation."

The Governor described the strides made in education in Ulster County and throughout the state as being among his administration's proudest achievements.

He said, "The new Ulster County Community College, with state aid totalling $717,000 this year, already boasts an enrollment of 700."

Enrollment at the State University College at New Paltz has risen nearly 100 per cent from 1958-1959 to a present 3,242. The institution has been expanded with state funds totalling $27,836,195 since 1953. State University Construction Fund plans call for a total investment of $47,000,000 from 1962 through 1970.

"My goal as Governor,"

Rockefeller said, "is to assure every young man and young woman in the state a chance for a higher education. New Paltz is one more sign that we are accomplishing our objective."

Under a program which he inaugurated, the Governor added, 1,382 Ulster County residents received a Scholarship Incentive Awards this year while Regents College Scholarships were increased 339 per cent from 33 in 1958 to a present 145.

Quints to Mark Third Birthday, Should Be Noisy

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — Jimmy, Cathy, Margie, Mary Ann and Maggie — the Fischer quintuplets — celebrate their third birthday today on their parents' 800-acre farm. The party should be a noisy one.

Friends say the quintlets are a very talkative group with Jimmy, the biggest, having the most to say. With their brother and five sisters, all under 11, joining in, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer should have their hands full passing the ice cream and cake.

The party will be private, however, and the Fischers have decided not to disclose what gifts the youngsters are getting. The quintlets are described as healthy and lively. Three wear glasses to correct weak eye muscles. Jimmy apparently prefers playing with his brother Danny, 10, rather than his sisters.

Residents of this Northern Plains city of 20,000 rarely see the children. When they do catch a glimpse of them, it's usually as the Fischers drive by in their station wagon.

Fischer, who was a $76-a-week warehouse shipping clerk when the quintlets were born, now operates the farm he bought near the southwest edge of Aberdeen. The family lives in a 17-room house, about a half-mile from the highway.

Mrs. Fischer has hired help to assist with the children but she usually is joined on Saturdays by her mother, Mrs. Elmer Brady, who lives in nearby Hecla.

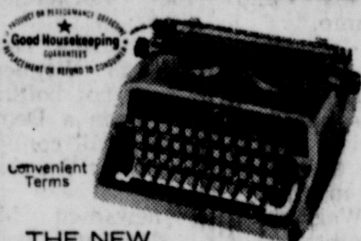

Grandma Brady was one of the few visitors on hand today.

Protection Ordered For Negro Pupils

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Negro pupils return for their third day of classes at newly desegregated Grenada schools today with officials under orders from a federal judge to protect them against the violence of segregationist whites.

U.S. Dist. Judge Claude F. Clayton, a former Army general, issued the order Tuesday night at Oxford.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach had requested it to provide protection for the children. The Justice Department also asked for the order to provide for the arrest and prosecution of those who assault the Negro children. Without the order, the department said, Grenada officials would continue "in their willful failure and refusal" to protect the Negro children and their parents.

AMC Head Feels Decision Should Help Open Door

DETROIT (AP) — The president of American Motors Corp. says a governmental decision that his financially troubled firm is a small business "should open the doors to some new business."

But Roy Abernethy declared that the new classification of the nation's fourth-largest auto maker by the Small Business Administration "is not a subsidy."

'Chance to Compete'

"It is simply a chance to compete," he said.

The Small Business Administration announced in Washington Tuesday that it is redefining the concept of small business in three industries—passenger cars, truck and bus tires and auto and motorcycle tires—in an attempt to foster competition.

At least one other auto firm, Checker Motors of Kalamazoo, Mich., would fall under the administration's new definition, which classifies a firm as a small business if it commands less than 5 per cent of the market in its particular field at the time of bidding on a government contract. Eight domestic tire manufacturers also probably would qualify as small businesses under the redefinition.

Exactly how big an opportunity the government would give AMC to grab a share of government contracts was not spelled out.

There was no announcement whether the administration would set aside a portion of auto contracts for small business. The government's buying agent, General Services Administration, is expected to purchase about 60,000 autos in 1967.

Until now, AMC, 63rd-biggest firm in the nation in terms of sales, has sold fewer than 800 or 900 cars a year to the government, Abernethy said.

If the firm takes advantage of its new classification to sell cars to the government, it will cut into a market controlled until now by the Big Three of the industry—General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler Corp.

AMC's last major contract with the government was finished a few years ago when production ended on the Mighty Mite, a small, rugged vehicle designed to be airlifted easily.

Officials of the Big Three automakers declined to comment on whether they thought the administration's decision showed favoritism toward one of their competitors.

The Big Three sell 97 per cent of the new cars made in the United States. American Motors commands less than 2 per cent of the market.

AMC for the last three quarters of its fiscal year has omitted payment of dividends to stockholders because of low earnings. On June 30, at the end of nine months of its fiscal year, AMC reported a $4.1-million loss on $707.1 million in sales.

Mao Using Young Enforcers Says Chinese Dangerously Unpredictable; Cites Unrest

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is a commonplace now that the Red Chinese are dangerously unpredictable. Among the reasons for it, and one of the best symbols of it, are the Red Guard youth brigades created by the Red leadership.

These brigades have been turned loose by Mao Tze-tung and those close to him to frighten and club the Chinese people into a vast conformity: unquestioning acceptance of the leadership and edicts of Mao and his clique.

One Thing Wrong

There's one thing wrong with the idea.

It is axiomatic that power is only a temporary possession. Dissent can be crushed but not crushed, even though it lies dormant for a generation. Unless the reasons for the dissent are altered, the dissent remains.

It may be silenced through force for the lifetime of the aging Mao. He will retain the power to hush it so long as he remains No. 1 man with the support of those who share his views or who figure they can benefit by his favors.

Perhaps the irritations and disagreements causing the dissent will become too intense to wait until he dies to express themselves. But once he is gone the dissatisfactions of the discontented—whether they are intellectuals, factory hands, farmers or shopkeepers—will assert themselves.

Looks Frightening

This is so obvious the use of the Red Guards by the Mao leadership is an indisputable sign of its political, social and emotional immaturity. It is one of the factors which make the Red Chinese regime look frightening.

The immaturity has shown itself in various ways. For instance, the impulsive and disastrous "Great Leap Forward" of a few years ago, an experiment in stepped-up communism from which Red China has not yet recovered.

The immaturity has been displayed in its ragged and disastrous foreign policy which in the past couple of years has suffered one setback and humiliation after another around the world.

But the immaturity is coupled with stupidity, which makes it doubly painful. Red China, and proclaiming itself the leader of it, has revealed that its basic compulsion is the crudest nationalism.

Alienated Itself

Thus it has alienated itself from the rest of the Communist world with its vilification of the Soviet Union and its childish and primitive effort to claim a monopoly on Red wisdom.

The Soviet Union has been around longer and through time, power and other devices has attached to itself the loyalty of other Red states. More than just Chinese hissing will be needed to shake them loose.

This is not to suggest that the United States, the Soviet Union and the other big powers are not equally nationalistic in their basic motives, but they are a little more subtle about it except perhaps for France, which is crude on that.

But if immaturity makes the Mao regime look emotionally unstable, so do its inferior feelings about its lack of industrial development (while shouting like a giant), other forms of progress, and the fact it is not yet a nuclear power, while the Soviet Union and the United States are. No wonder those nations are its two main targets.

Talk Big, Do Little

It could be assumed Red China would talk big and do little until it is a No. 1 world power for fear that war with the Soviet Union or this country would bring the ruin of such nuclear development as it has. This is strictly an assumption.

But any country resorting to the Red Guard tactics is erratic and unstable. Understandably the Johnson administration is avoiding anything like an invasion of North Vietnam, which might make the Red Chinese feel compelled to go to war.

The best hope for a maturing and stable China seems to be in the obvious evolutionary process: eventual change in leadership and new conditions, internally and externally, for which the Mao maxims clearly hold no solutions.

Wilson Striving To Avert Collapse Over Salisbury

LONDON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was striving today to avert a breakup of the 22-nation Commonwealth conference over the Rhodesian crisis.

He and his aides worked through the night on a compromise formula to reconcile the widely diverging views on how best to end the 10-month-old rebellion by Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's white minority government.

Fifteen Asian, African and Caribbean countries and Cyprus were striving to force Britain that it will not grant statehood to Rhodesia until a government representing the colony's four million Africans is installed in Salisbury.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson has declined to give such a pledge. He favors a gradual transition to black African self-rule.

He also rejected African-Asian demands for the use of force to bring down Smith's regime or for comprehensive and compulsory sanctions, backed by force if necessary.

Only Australia, New Zealand, Malta and Malawi wholeheartedly backed Wilson's proposals for tougher, but selective sanctions to end Smith's rebellion.
